Arsenic In Assinippi:

Arsenic in Assinippi John F. Gallagher, 2014-09-10 A century ago the peaceful picturesque village of Assinippi Massachusetts became the focus of national attention after retired U S Navy Rear Admiral Joseph Giles Eaton was found dead in his bedroom An autopsy revealed the presence of a fatal dose of arsenic Authorities launched an investigation and less than three weeks after the admiral s death they arrested his wife Jennie May Eaton for his murder She later stood trial in Plymouth County Superior Court where an all male jury decided her fate The prominence of the admiral in military and social circles the scandalous nature of the charges and the rare indictment of a woman for a capital crime generated extensive press coverage It was the era of sensationalism when newspapers all vying to increase their circulations splashed dramatic headlines photographs and sketches across their front pages The Eaton case captivated people across the country for eight months in 1913 This book is a nonfictional account of the events leading up to Admiral Eaton s death the ensuing investigation and trial and the tragic aftermath Newspaper stories court records town histories census returns vital records genealogical records military records archival manuscripts and other documentary evidence are among the sources the author used to tell the story of this significant chapter in the nation s history Arsenic in Assinippi - Large Print John F. Gallagher, 2015-06-18 Names on the Land Irvin Magin, 2011-10-31 The principal reason for my doing this project was simply because I wanted to do it Ive long been interested in toponymy the science of placenames and until now with the privilege of retirement was afforded the time to do it It was mentally laborious time consuming a guesstimated 10 000 hours over a 6 year period highly educational and greatly rewarding I have always had an interest in dissecting things analyzing them and then restructuring the information gathered into a new form with the hope of producing a pleasant result In order to do this I had some help My best helpmates in gathering the information I sought were things seen on paper not things seen on a screen I feel good about the fact that I coming from another era did not employ any electronic means to accomplish the task And it was all formed out with the use of an antiquated device known as a typewriter My principal information buddies were the 2 volume U S Postal Service Zip Code and Post Office Directory the 50 state Rand McNally road map inventory and each states official road map The indices to each of these individual road maps followed by a thorough hand and eye scanning of their surface provided the means to lift the names of these entries nearly 22 000 of them The names are a smattering of old names and new names common names usual names and unusual names but basically this is a study involving physical geography with placenames formed from lots of nouns pronouns verbs adverbs and a few conjunctions Its physical Many of the placenames chosen for inclusion in this piece were chosen because they involved things essential to the early settlement and survival of this country Traffic Bulletin ,1920 The Traffic Bulletin ,1920 The Encyclopaedia Britannica Hugh Chisholm, 1911 The Encyclopaedia Britannica: Index ,1911 The last great work of the age of reason the final instance when all human knowledge could be presented with a single point of view Unabashed optimism
