Science & Technology in the Arts Stewart Kranz,1974      Information Arts Stephen Wilson,2003-02-28 An introduction to the work and ideas of artists who use and even influence science and technology A new breed of contemporary artist engages science and technology not just to adopt the vocabulary and gizmos but to explore and comment on the content agendas and possibilities Indeed proposes Stephen Wilson the role of the artist is not only to interpret and to spread scientific knowledge but to be an active partner in determining the direction of research Years ago C P Snow wrote about the two cultures of science and the humanities these developments may finally help to change the outlook of those who view science and technology as separate from the general culture In this rich compendium Wilson offers the first comprehensive survey of international artists who incorporate concepts and research from mathematics the physical sciences biology kinetics telecommunications and experimental digital systems such as artificial intelligence and ubiquitous computing In addition to visual documentation and statements by the artists Wilson examines relevant art theoretical writings and explores emerging scientific and technological research likely to be culturally significant in the future He also provides lists of resources including organizations publications conferences museums research centers and Web sites

From Energy to Information Bruce Clarke,Linda Dalrymple Henderson,2002 This book offers an innovative examination of the interactions of science and technology art and literature in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries Scholars in the history of art literature architecture computer science and media studies focus on five historical themes in the transition from energy to information thermodynamics electromagnetism inscription information theory and virtuality Different disciplines are grouped around specific moments in the history of science and technology in order to sample the modes of representation invented or adapted by each field in response to newly developed scientific concepts and models By placing literary fictions and the plastic arts in relation to the transition from the era of energy to the information age this collection of essays discovers unexpected resonances among concepts and materials not previously brought into juxtaposition In particular it demonstrates the crucial centrality of the theme of energy in modernist discourse Overall the volume develops the scientific and technological side of the shift from modernism to postmodernism in terms of the conceptual crossover from energy to information The contributors are Christoph Asendorf Ian F A Bell Robert Brain Bruce Clarke Charlotte Douglas N Katherine Hayes Linda Dalrymple Henderson Bruce J Hunt Douglas Kahn Timothy Lenoir W J T Mitchell Marcos Novak Edward Shanken Richard Shiff David Tomas Sha Xin Wei and Norton Wise      Fusing Art and Technology: Co-Creating Futures for New Generations Anh, Trinh Thuy,2025-08-29 Immersive technologies including virtual reality VR and augmented reality AR are revolutionizing human computer interactions Due to these technological advancements there are increased opportunities and an increased interest in artistic experimentation There is also an increasing concern about the direction that human intelligence is taking At the same time TechArt can address educational challenges transform traditional systems and ensure equity As such art and technology can co create sustainable futures for the new generation Fusing Art and Technology Co Creating Futures for New Generations aims to bridge the existing gap in resources that critically examine the fusion of art and technology By focusing on the creative sustainable and culturally enriching advances in the ArtTech field it illuminates paths for future collaboration and innovation addressing the challenges and opportunities at the intersection of these disciplines Covering topics such as aesthetic value human intelligence and social development this book is an excellent resource for artists technologists cultural institution professionals policymakers researchers professionals scholars academicians and more Art and Technology ,1992 Art and Technology Bonnie Wilder,1983

Intersecting Art and Technology in Practice Camille C Baker,Kate Sicchio,2016-12-19 This book focuses on the artistic process creativity and collaboration and personal approaches to creation and ideation in making digital and electronic technology based art Less interested in the outcome itself the artefact artwork or performance contributors instead highlight the emotional intellectual intuitive instinctive and step by step creation dimensions They aim to shine a light on digital and electronic art practice involving coding electronic gadgetry and technology mixed with other forms of more established media to uncover the practice as research processes required as well as the collaborative aspects of art and technology practice Digital Bodies Susan Broadhurst,Sara Price,2017-10-12 This book explores technologies related to bodily interaction and creativity from a multi disciplinary perspective By taking such an approach the collection offers a comprehensive view of digital technology research that both extends our notions of the body and creativity through a digital lens and informs of the role of technology in practices central to the arts and humanities Crucially Digital Bodies foregrounds creativity the interrogation of technologies and the notion of embodiment within the various disciplines of art design performance and social science In doing so it explores a potential or virtual new sense of the embodied self This book will appeal to academics practitioners and those with an interest in not only how digital technologies affect the body but also how they can enhance human creativity Telematic Embrace Roy Ascott,2003 Annotation Telematic Embrace combines a provocative collection of writings from 1964 to the present by the preeminent artist and art theoretician Roy Ascott with a critical essay by Edward Shanken that situates Ascott s work within a history of ideas in art technology and philosophy

Untold Power John Eger,2022-08-11 Most of us know that the widespread use of robotics particularly artificial intelligence robots will most likely have an adverse effect on the workplace and that the new jobs that emerge will require new thinking skills that the current educational system does not provide It is also becoming clear that communities seeking to attract and nurture those most qualified for the new jobs must also renew themselves if they are to be successful Most important the emerging workforce must be able to engage both right and left hemispheres of the brain in order to solve complex problems in increasingly creative ways This central imperative has resulted in the increasing demand for both artistic and creative skills along with technological and science based skills This treatise makes those arguments for reinvention and while it is not yet known precisely what makes people creative many ideas about fostering creative people and institutions are discussed The Covid 19 pandemic has greatly accelerated our use of technology and our responses to changes we must make in education the workplace and the workforce that have been lying dormant for too long At the heart of the changes we must make is the vital realization that art and technology are the new benchmarks of the global economy an economy where creativity and innovation are shaping a new world order We are entering a new era and we must act now to prepare for a very different future

Art, Technology and Intellectual Property American Assembly,2002 High Techne R. L. Rutsky,2014-05-28 In an age of high tech our experience of technology has changed tremendously yet the definition of technology has remained largely unquestioned High Techne redresses this gap in thinking about technology examining the shifting relations of technology art and culture from the beginnings of modernity to contemporary technocultures Progressing from the major art movements of modernism to contemporary science fiction and cultural theory Rutsky provides clear and compelling evidence of a shift in the cultural conceptions of technology and art

Technology, Design and the Arts - Opportunities and Challenges Rae Earnshaw,Susan Liggett,Peter Excell,Daniel Thalmann,2020-06-22 This open access book details the relationship between the artist and their created works using tools such as information technology computer environments and interactive devices for a range of information sources and application domains This has produced new kinds of created works which can be viewed explored and interacted with either as an installation or via a virtual environment such as the Internet These processes generate new dimensions of understanding and experience for both the artist and the public s relationships with the works that are produced This has raised a variety of interdisciplinary opportunities and issues and these are examined The symbiotic relationship between artistic works and the cultural context in which they are produced is reviewed Technology can provide continuity by making traditional methods and techniques more efficient and effective It can also provide discontinuity by opening up new perspectives and paradigms This can generate new ideas and produce a greater understanding of artistic processes and how they are implemented in practice Tools have been used from the earliest times to create and modify artistic works For example naturally occurring pigments have been used for cave paintings What has been created provides insight into the cultural context and social environment at the time of creation There is an interplay between the goal of the creator the selection and use of appropriate tools and the materials and representations chosen Technology Design and the Arts Opportunities and Challenges is relevant for artists and technologists and those engaged in interdisciplinary research and development at the boundaries between these disciplines

Art, Design and Technology: Collaboration and Implementation Rae Earnshaw,2017-05-30 This book examines how digital technology is being used to assist the artists and designers The computer is able to store data and reproduce designs thus facilitating the speed up of the iterative process towards a final design which meets the objectives of the designer and the requirements of the user Collaborative design enables the sharing of information across digital networks to produce designed objects in virtual spaces Augmented and virtual reality techniques can be used to preview designs before they are finalized and implemented Art and design have shaped the values social structures communications and the culture of communities and civilisations The direct involvement of artists and designers with their creative works has left a legacy enabling subsequent generations to understand more about their skills their motivations and their relationship to the wider world and to see it from a variety of perspectives This in turn causes the viewers of their works to reflect upon their meaning for today and the lasting value and implications of what has been created Art installations are harnessing modern technology to process information and to display it Such environments have also proved useful in engaging users and visitors with real time images and interactive art

Experiments in Art and Technology (E.A.T.) Experiments in Art and Technology (Organization),2017 Explorations in Art and Technology Linda Candy,Ernest A. Edmonds,Fabrizio Augusto Poltronieri,2018 This edition revises the original core chapters and adds 15 contributions from artists who shed new light on the progress made in the early decades of the 21st Century Explorations in Art and Technology is about the creative process in action seen through the eyes of practitioners and researchers It brings together artists technologists and researchers who have written about emerging correspondences between virtual and physical worlds between human and machine processes between abstract concepts and their physical realizations between music and visualization and between film and painting It is a story of new visions and new forms First published in 2002 this revised edition updates much of the original material and adds contributions from fifteen artists who shed new light on the progress that has been made in the early decades of the 21st Century The book describes how artists have conceived and made novel digital works from a historical perspective and how inter disciplinary research has had a profound effect on the take up of digital technology in the wider community It shows that a practice based action research approach to case studies of artist residencies enabled art and technology practitioners to take a significant role in the research and explores the nature of collaboration in this context What emerges is a compelling story of inspirational creative work in a field that is transforming traditional norms in both art and technology
