Bed Barley Straw Draymere Hall:

A Bed of Barley Straw Sam Russell, 2015-12-02 You can bury the past but can you ever forget it Hettie Redfern has no time for men for anything but the most basic of needs She has learnt from past experience Her career is more rewarding horses are more trustworthy and dogs are easier to love So when Alexander Melton returns to Draymere Hall where Hettie manages the stables she quickly concludes that despite his good looks his arrogance leaves a lot to be desired Unfortunately that doesn't stop Hettie from desiring him and the attraction is a powerful one Proud judgemental damaged for Alexander women are a convenient pleasure to be used and forgotten So why has he let Hettie Redfern get under his skin A foolish obsession given her reputation A clash of characters a physical attraction too strong to resist History unravelling in a perfect storm of frustrated passion

A Bed of Barley Straw Sam Russell, 2015-03-03 Petite copper haired Hettie Redfern tends the stables of Lord Melton's English estate A traumatic relationship early in life left her emotionally scarred She'll be the first to admit she finds horses and dogs more trustworthy than men Alexander Melton second son of Lord Melton returns to his home after serving in Afghanistan Years ago Alexander watched his father descend into drunkenness after his mother's affair Like Hettie his experience left him with a deep distrust of commitment For the rugged handsome young man women are a convenient pleasure to be used and forgotten He hasn't talked to his mother for fifteen years Two strong willed damaged people are about to ignite a firestorm of passion even as they navigate their deep seated mistrust for each other Meeting for the first time in years the two feel a mutual attraction completely at odds with their antagonistic conversations and attitudes As their feelings grow Hettie and Alexander become ever more conflicted Unless they confront and overcome their inner demons they're going to miss out on something beautiful Their passion could blossom into a lifelong commitment but only if they can learn to trust again
