Bridges Constantine Ahlem Mosteghanemi:

The Bridges of Constantine Ahlem Mosteghanemi, 2014-01-17 Our meagre literature has known no greater story nor witnessed a more beautiful ruin Self exiled in Paris after losing an arm in the Algerian war of liberation and becoming disillusioned with the corruption of his newly independent country the narrator Khaled has taken up painting as a form of therapy Many years later at an exhibition of his work in Paris he is visited by Hayat the daughter of a close friend and legendary fighter who had given his life for the revolt Khaled who had known Hayat as a child now falls for the woman she has become and for her chosen art as a novelist Hayat who he sees as the manifestation of his home city of Constantine makes him forget his French girlfriend and for the first time in years start to confront his feelings about Algeria He is rivaled in his affections however by a Palestinian poet and by a senior ranking government official who Hayat eventually decides to marry The events of this award winning novel centre around Algeria's struggle against foreign domination and the turmoil that followed its independence from France in the 1960s The first in a series of three books that span more than five decades of Algerian history Memory in the Flesh is a lyrical and nostalgic memoir of love and loss

The Bridges of Constantine Ahlem Mosteghanemi, 2013-12-05 Khaled a former revolutionary in the Algerian war of liberation has been in self exile in Paris for two decades disgusted by the corruption that now riddles the country he once fought for Now a celebrated painter Khaled is consumed with passion for Hayat the daughter of his old revolutionary commander who unexpectedly reenters Khaled's life Hayat had been just a child when he last saw her but she has now become a seductive young novelist The first novel in an award winning bestselling trilogy that spans Algeria's tumultuous recent history The Bridges of Constantine is a lyrical and heartrending love story

The Kaleidoscope of Gendered Memory in Ahlam Mosteghanemi's Novels Nuha Baaqeel, 2019-07-12 Through its unique kaleidoscopic lens this book analyzes the work of Algeria's first postcolonial woman writer to publish a novel in Arabic Ahlam Mosteghanemi Her novels Memory in the Flesh and Chaos of the Senses return to the trauma of the Algerian War of Independence to address the lingering anxieties of national belonging and memory in postcolonial Algeria at a time when the nation is caught between two forces entrenched bureaucratic political elites and populist Islamists who imagine a return to a pre modern utopian past This book argues that Mosteghanemi's polyphonic narratives reveal that national narratives are always multiple unity is not one all encompassing narrative but instead an ever evolving Bakhtinian dialogism accommodating multiple perspectives memories and stories The study interprets Mosteghanemi's metaphor of the bridge as a powerful device for exploring tensions between reality and imagination exile and belonging and traditional concepts of gender in ways that reimagine nationhood and gesture towards a new collective future

Transcolonial Maghreb Olivia C. Harrison, 2015-11-18 Transcolonial Maghreb offers the first thorough analysis of the ways in which Moroccan Algerian and Tunisian writers have engaged with the Palestinian question and the Palestinian Israeli conflict for the past fifty years Arguing that Palestine has become the figure par excellence of the colonial in the purportedly postcolonial present the book reframes the field of Maghrebi studies to account for transversal political and aesthetic exchanges across North Africa and the Middle East Olivia C Harrison examines and contextualizes writings by the likes of Abdellatif La bi Kateb Yacine Ahlam Mosteghanemi Albert Memmi Abdelkebir Khatibi Jacques Derrida and Edmond El Maleh covering a wide range of materials that are for the most part unavailable in English translation popular theater literary magazines television series feminist texts novels essays unpublished manuscripts letters and pamphlets written in the three main languages of the Maghreb Arabic French and Berber The result has wide implications for the study of transcolonial relations across the Global South Memory in The Flesh Ahlam Mosteghanemi, 2003 This prize winning novel the first to be written by an Algerian woman in Arabic is set against Algeria's struggle against foreign domination as well as its post independence struggle with itself and the fate of revolutionary ideals in a post revolutionary society The story spanning more than four decades of Algerian history from the 1940s to the 1980s revolves around a love affair between Khaled the middle aged militant who turns to painting after losing his left arm in the struggle and Hayat the fiction writer and young daughter of his friend the freedom fighter Si Taher all brilliantly told through Khaled's voice It was features such as this convincing embodiment of a male voice alongside narrative techniques in which the author subtly joins the achievements of world literature with that of local storytelling and traditional modes of narration that particularly impressed the judges who awarded this novel the Naguib Mahfouz Medal for Literature The Suicide Archive Doyle D.

Calhoun, 2024-09-13 Throughout the French empire from the Atlantic and the Caribbean to West and North Africa men women and children responded to enslavement colonization and oppression through acts of suicide In The Suicide Archive Doyle D Calhoun charts a long history of suicidal resistance to French colonialism and neocolonialism from the time of slavery to the Algerian War for Independence to the Arab Spring Noting that suicide was either obscured in or occluded from French colonial archives Calhoun turns to literature and film to show how aesthetic forms and narrative accounts can keep alive the silenced histories of suicide as a political language Drawing on scientific texts police files and legal proceedings alongside contemporary African and Afro Caribbean novels film and Senegalese oral history Calhoun outlines how such aesthetic works rewrite histories of resistance and loss Consequently Calhoun offers a new way of writing about suicide slavery and coloniality in relation to literary history Chaos of the Senses Ahlam Mosteghanemi, 2004 Ahlam Mosteghanemi's second novel picks up where Memory in the Flesh left off with the story of love set in the battered and bruised Algeria of the 1990s Mosteghanemi takes her readers through the streets of suspicion and suspense and the ups and downs of a forbidden love affair through a story within a story as a writer stuck in a loveless marriage to an important military man inadvertently writes what eventually comes true She begins after a period of not writing by penning the narrative of a mysterious man who courts the object of his desire through deceptive words then she helplessly follows the path of her fictitious character only to find that the mystery man exists and it is he who has led her to his door and into his life One twist leads to the next as the question remains of which man the writer was destined to meet and fall in love with the mysterious artist or the doomed journalist This lyrical adventure teases the reader with facts for fiction and fiction for facts The backdrop of political chaos creates a sense of foreboding and fear for two powerless lovers But where is reality and where is fantasy The Dust of Promises Ahlem Mosteghanemi,2016-01-14

In a voice as dim as a lighthouse on a rainy night he said Beware of loving a woman who loves bridges _____ Once upon a September in Paris Still heartsick over the break up of his relationship with the alluring elusive novelist Hayat the narrator of The Dust of Promises finds himself adrift in Paris where he has come to receive a photography award His photograph of a traumatised war orphan has been declared profoundly affecting by the judges but he knows that no picture can ever fully capture the desolation and destruction he has witnessed in his Algerian homeland When he stumbles into an art exhibition on one of the capital's side streets he is struck by the power of the paintings and feels impelled to learn more about the artist an Algerian exile whose painful longing for the country he has lost shines out of his work The artist is none other than Khaled the man who haunted the pages of Hayat's first novel just as the narrator was inextricably entangled in her second As the two men embark on a tentative friendship a twist of fate brings Hayat herself to France where the destinies of all of them will once again collide The final novel in the international bestselling trilogy from the literary phenomenon Elle Ahlem Mosteghanemi The Dust of Promises is a haunting elegiac story of love memory and betrayal and of what it means to come home _____

Remarkable insightful The elegiac quality is present not just in the themes but also in the astonishingly poetic language throughout I stopped and marvelled every few pages This is one of the richest and most evocative books that I have read all year Independent Ahlem has carved a place for herself as one of the most important writers of the Arab world Youssef

Chahine Egyptian director winner of the Cannes Film Lifetime Achievement Award The Art of Forgetting Ahlem Mosteghanemi,2012-03-15 The Art of Forgetting is an elegant and warm hearted meditation on love damage survival and restoration from an exhilarating stylist As the title suggests this book offers women advice on how to move beyond the destructive men in their lives and onto a better and more fulfilling existence Full of wit and warmth from an author who speaks from her heart and head at one and the same time Chaos of the Senses Ahlem Mosteghanemi,2015-01-15 Love always sits in a seat other than the one we were expecting it to right alongside the place where we expected love to be In the midst of the Algerian civil war Hayat is a young novelist trapped in a loveless marriage While her husband a high ranking officer preoccupies himself with politics Hayat finds freedom from her highly regimented life in the world of her writing

There she weaves a passionate story for her characters But the line between fiction and reality blurs when she falls for a man who seems to have walked straight out of the pages of her notebook a man who seduces her instead of her heroine with his silence As love on paper becomes a forbidden love lived out in the dark corners of a broken city Hayat's country convulses with political upheaval In a place where those who dare to write the truth are made to pay a heavy price she and her

characters will discover that no one can truly be the author of their own destiny The second novel in the international bestselling trilogy from the literary phenomenon Elle Ahlem Mosteghanemi Chaos of the Senses is a powerful story of love identity and liberation The Art of Forgetting Ahlem Mosteghanemi,2011-11-07 An elegant and warm hearted meditation on love damage survival and restoration from an exhilarating stylist From Damascus to Beirut Hazem Fadel,2016-02-08 Notably studies on the Arabic novel tend to focus on canonical writers like the Egyptian novelist and Nobel laureate Naguib Mahfouz 1911 2006 and leave out or just mention en passant the work of others This book is not concerned with the ways in which the Arabic novel breaks away from or reproduces Mahfouz's approach and techniques but focuses instead on the way in which the authors in question engage with the phenomena of nationalism feminism post and neo colonialism civil war and social change in the Arab world using an urban scenario as their privileged point of observation The Arabic city is privileged as a focal point because it is the space where the struggles over issues of nation building gender religion and class as well as the patriarchal colonialist Zionist and sectarian violence linked to these issues manifest themselves most evidently To this end From Damascus to Beirut Contested Cities in Arab Writing brings together four novels published between 1969 and 1989 which have never been approached from this perspective nor put in this kind of dialogue before Ulfat Idilbi's Damascus Ghassan Kanafani's Haifa Ahlam Mosteghanemi's Constantine and Elias Khoury's Beirut are social and historical products and as such as Henri Lefebvre maintains are deeply rooted in politics and affected by ideology The cities discussed here in fact display the ebbs and flows of political and social life in their respective countries and in the Arab world in general Each city stands at a crucial point in the history of the Arab world and the way in which they are represented by their respective authors sets the stage for and sometimes even foreshadows an upcoming defeat or disappointment Albeit for different reasons Damascus Haifa Constantine and Beirut are all expressions of failures either on national political social or economic levels Paradoxically however they are also the repositories of their people's hopes and aspirations as well as of their disappointments Analysing these novels as such this book will be of particular interest to postcolonial readers and more importantly to English speaking readers who are interested in the study of modern Arabic literature Its close textual analysis offers the reader new tools not only for understanding themes and narrative techniques pertaining to the Arabic novel but also the contemporary political cultural and social issues that produced them
