Bricks & Mortals Tom Wilkinson, 2014-01-01 Longlisted for the Guardian First Book Award 2014 We don't just look at buildings their facades beautiful or ugly conceal the spaces we inhabit We are born work love and die in architecture We buy and sell it rent it and squat in it create and destroy it These aspects of buildings economic erotic political and psychological are crucial if we are to understand architecture properly And because architecture moulds us just as much as we mould it understanding architecture helps us to understand our lives and our world Through ten great buildings across the world Tom Wilkinson reveals the powerful and intimate relationship between society and architecture and asks can architecture change our lives for the better THE TEN BUILDINGS The Tower of Babel Babylon c 650 BC The Golden House Rome AD 64 68 Djinguereber Mosque Timbuktu 1327 Palazzo Rucellai Florence 1450 The Garden of Perfect Brightness Beijing 1709 1860 Festival Theatre Bayreuth Germany 1876 Highland Park Car Factory Detroit 1909 1910 E 1027 Cap Martin 1926 29 Finsbury Health Centre London 1938 Footbridge Rio de Janeiro London 2010

Objects of Liberty Pamela Buck, 2024-03-15 Objects of Liberty explores the prevalence of souvenirs in British women's writing during the French Revolution and Napoleonic era It argues that women writers employed the material and memorial object of the souvenir to circulate revolutionary ideas and engage in the masculine realm of political debate While souvenir collecting was a standard practice of privileged men on the eighteenth century Grand Tour women began to partake in this endeavor as political events in France heightened interest in travel to the Continent Looking at travel accounts by Helen Maria Williams Mary Wollstonecraft Catherine and Martha Wilmot Charlotte Eaton and Mary Shelley this study reveals how they used souvenirs to affect political thought in Britain and contribute to conversations about individual and national identity At a time when gendered beliefs precluded women from full citizenship they used souvenirs to redefine themselves as legitimate political actors Objects of Liberty is a story about the ways that women established political power and agency through material culture

A Life of Sir Harry Parkes Robert Morton, 2025-10-01 Harry Parkes was at the heart of Britain's relations with the Far East from the start of his working life at fourteen to his death at fifty seven Orphaned at the age of five he went to China on his own as a child and worked his way to the top God fearing and fearless he believed his mission was to bring trade and civilisation to East Asia In his day he was seen as both a hero and a monster and is still bitterly resented in China for his part in the country's humiliations at Western hands but largely esteemed in Japan for helping it to industrialise Morton's new biography the first in over thirty years and benefiting in part from access to the Parkes family and archives offers a more intimate and informed profile of the personal and professional life of a Victorian titan and one of Britain's most undiplomatic diplomats in the history of the British Civil Service

Italy's Renaissance in Buildings and Gardens Frederick Kiefer, 2024-10-08 Palaces villas and churches These were the highlights of my first visit to Italy I took a lot of photos and looked forward to sharing them with friends and family Back home though I found that I didn't recall much about the places that impressed me Although I had the benefit of a half day guide in Rome Florence and Venice I sometimes had difficulty hearing what was said on crowded streets and busy interiors The guides were capable but had only enough time to mention a few major features As a rule they skimmed on actually describing buildings that intrigued me And so they were not especially helpful in providing the insights I wanted Upon my return I found myself wondering Where did the architects actually find their ideas What did they want to accomplish And what do their choices tell us about their time My sojourn in Italy would have been more satisfying if I had come away with a fuller account of what I had seen What I most needed was context This book supplies that context Contemplation of antiquity and the exchange of views among architects released a surge of intellectual energy not seen for a millennium a development that would never have happened so quickly were it not for Johannes Gutenberg's invention of printing with movable type This development in turn led to architects' heightened self-awareness of their collective enterprise They read what their fellow architects wrote and thereby gained in sophistication They were no longer merely masons They became architects in the modern sense They took pride in their achievements and shared a conviction that the visual culture they created was far superior to that of the previous thousand years Their embrace of classical civilisation had a visceral urgency Rome after all was a culture with a storied past peopled by larger than life figures To learn what the ancients had created in word or stone could supply a shortcut to wisdom And emulating the Romans would provide new models of aesthetic excellence This endeavour became known as the Renaissance or rebirth The Reformation however changed everything Martin Luther brought to issue a quandary How exactly was Christianity to be reconciled with the pagan past if at all Could one source of inspiration be sustained without compromising the other Religious reform questioned the aesthetic achievements of the previous hundred years The story of Renaissance architecture represents the effort to find an accommodation

Architecture as Communication Ross Eaman, 2025-04-08 Media theory has long overlooked the built environment and its communicative capacity how built structures and spaces convey meaning through material embodiment and symbolization Architecture as Communication advances the idea that built environments function as media of communication Using practice theory in conjunction with the concept of style this book is anchored in three historical determinants the quest for perfect proportion in buildings the belief in architectural determinism and the ongoing efforts within other media to influence how those who experience built environments understand them Ross Eaman explores how houses schools places of worship factories office buildings stores malls opera houses plazas and parks have meaning for people as subjective life worlds Architecture as Communication proposes media theory that articulates the social construction of meaning as a unique way of understanding the built environment one in which the users and observers of structures and spaces participate along with architects and designers Architecture according to Eaman encompasses the multiplicity of communication as human interaction preparing people for what they are about to encounter signalling how they should act and selectively enabling them to perform their expected role Using examples across many historical periods and cultures Architecture as Communication argues that we judge our built environments by the values they communicate
