beat the blues We all have moments in life when we're down, lonely or just plain sad. It's part of being human. Just as everyone is different, everyone has a unique way of beating the blues. For anyone who needs a bit of inspiration, a smile or a friendly pat on the back, Tanya Tucker and ninety-nine friends offer this heartwarming collection of their personal recipes for beating the blues. Whether through family, friends, nature, music or maybe even a little Jack Daniel's, as Nobel Prize winner William Faulkner recommended, the collected voices in this timeless book remind us of all the happiness and joy life has to offer. President George H. W. Bush yells at the television, Loretta Lynn makes herself a fried bologna sandwich, Sir Arthur C. Clarke explores the infinite universe of fractals, NASCAR's Geoff Bodine cleans the house. Seventy celebrities such as Kris Kristofferson, Jerry Orbach and Garth Brooks and thirty ordinary folks such as a farmer, a private detective, a doctor and a retired gospel radio show host share what lifts their spirits and puts them back in the game of life. From George Jones's practical 'Around the Farm Blues' to Weird Al Yankovic's funny 'The Warm Weather Blues' to Cathie Pelletier's soulful 'The Sunday Blues', 100 Ways to Beat the Blues is an inspiring guide to finding happiness no matter what the blues may bring.

This look at the blues shows us that the worst thing we can do is try to fight them. The author suggests that resisting depression or anything else you don't want actually sustains it, and that compassionate acceptance of your feelings and yourself leads to freedom. Through simple exercises and meditations, readers learn to open up to emotions, both good and bad, because according to the author, when you open yourself up to pain, you also open yourself up to joy. Summary of

When I first met with Karen, she was 32 years old. She had been separated from her husband Gary for more than a year. Their marriage had started off badly four years before Gary was domineering, dismissive of Karen's feelings and critical of almost everything she did. 2. Karen had lost interest in other things too. She had been eating junk food because it made her feel a little better for a few minutes, but she was gaining weight and losing control of her eating. 3. Depression is a worldwide epidemic that empties lives of meaning and joy. It can even kill. It is not uncommon for people to have depressive symptoms without having a formal diagnosis. 4. We have become more and more self-absorbed and less connected with one another. Our culture is marked by less and less of a sense of community. We have become more and more depressed, and this is because our culture is filled with unrealistic expectations and narcissism.
