contrast the new e learning places increased emphasis on social learning and use of social software such as blogs wikis podcasts and virtual worlds such as Second Life This phenomenon has also been referred to as Long Tail Learning E learning by contrast to e learning systems not based on CSCL assumes that knowledge as meaning and understanding is socially constructed Learning takes place through conversations about content and grounded interaction about problems and actions Advocates of social learning claim that one of the best ways to learn something is to teach it to others However it should be noted that many early online courses such as those developed by Murray Turoff and Starr Roxanne Hiltz in the 1970s and 80s at the New Jersey Institute of Technology courses at the University of Guelph in Canada the British Open University and the online distance courses at the University of British Columbia where Web CT now incorporated into Blackboard Inc was first developed have always made heavy use of online discussion between students Also from the start practitioners such as Harasim in 1995 have put heavy emphasis on the use of learning networks for knowledge construction long before the term e learning let alone CSCL was even considered There is also an increased use of virtual classrooms online presentations delivered live as an online learning platform and classroom for a diverse set of education providers such as Minnesota State Colleges and Universities and Sachem MN School District In addition to virtual classroom environments social networks have become an important part of e learning Social networks have been used to foster online learning communities around subjects as diverse as test preparation and language education Mobile Assisted Language Learning MALL is a term used to describe using handheld computers or cell phones to assist in language learning Some feel however that schools have not caught up with the social networking trends Few traditional educators promote social networking unless they are communicating with their own colleagues DLR Associates consulting group first became interested in e learning modules at the annual Distance Learning Conference held at the University of Maine I decided to offer e learning services since we were already evolved with computer assisted education techniques DLR Associates had been involved with CAE since computers were first used in engineering education It was our hope a trend could be started towards blended learning services where computer based activities were integrated with practical or classroom based situations Dan Ryan Professor Emeritus Clemson University     Autocad for Architecture Jefferis,Nick Jones,2008-09     Three-Dimensional Model Analysis and Processing Faxin Yu,Zheming Lu,Hao Luo,Pinghui Wang,2011-02-03 With the increasing popularization of the Internet together with the rapid development of 3D scanning technologies and modeling tools 3D model databases have become more and more common in fields such as biology chemistry archaeology and geography People can distribute their own 3D works over the Internet search and download 3D model data and also carry out electronic trade over the Internet However some serious issues are related to this as follows 1 How to efficiently transmit and store huge 3D model data with limited bandwidth and storage capacity 2 How to prevent 3D works from being pirated and tampered with 3 How to search for the desired 3D models in huge multimedia databases This book is devoted to partially solving the above issues Compression is useful because it helps reduce the consumption of expensive resources such as hard disk space and transmission bandwidth. On the downside, compressed data must be decompressed to be used, and this extra processing may be detrimental to some applications. 3D polygonal mesh with geometry, color, normal vector, and texture coordinate information as a common surface representation is now heavily used in various multimedia applications such as computer games, animations, and simulation applications. To maintain a convincing level of realism, many applications require highly detailed mesh models. However, such complex models demand broad network bandwidth and much storage capacity to transmit and store. To address these problems, 3D mesh compression is essential for reducing the size of 3D model representation.

Portfolios for Interior Designers Maureen Mitton, 2010-09-28. The complete guide to portfolio development for interior designers. It's a widely known fact that interior designers need a strong visual presence in the form of a well-crafted professional-looking portfolio. Surprisingly, however, many interior designers aren't equipped with the expertise required to organize and unify their work in a fashion that optimally conveys their talents and skills. Portfolios for Interior Designers helps demystify the process by guiding the reader toward mastery in assembling a winning portfolio. It delivers essential step-by-step instruction presented in a manner that shows interior designers how to properly and effectively display their designs. This book also includes color and black and white illustrations showing portfolio elements and options, graphic design concepts necessary for portfolio development, specific information for the design of digital portfolios, supplemental teaching resources that direct readers to a companion Web site, useful tips on the ways that popular graphics software applications can be best implemented for certain portfolio elements, samples of cover letters and resumes along with discussion of job search procedures. With the aid of real-world examples, Portfolios for Interior Designers examines how a portfolio can be used as an effective tool for communicating with clients and other professionals. A much-needed guide, this book eliminates the uncertainty surrounding portfolio development so that interior designers can showcase their abilities successfully and land the next job.
