Evaluating Instructional Leadership Julie R. Smith, Raymond L. Smith, 2015-02-19 Improve principal evaluation and create highly effective leaders Even with great teachers student achievement hinges on an effective principal Behind every high quality principal is an airtight system of leadership evaluation that consistently rewards excellence and remedies deficits While teacher evaluation methods have improved instructional leadership evaluation has often stood still and student learning and achievement have paid the price This book identifies the major problems in this process and articulates clear solutions The result is a blueprint for ensuring the best person for the job is occupying the principal's chair Content includes Extensive data presented in a user friendly manner Clear connections to the ISLLC Standards for School Leaders A suite of interactive tools including sample self assessments mid year and final evaluation forms and professional growth plans This book not only highlights the key messages about the role of the leader but it does so in a way that is engaging practical and reflects the Smiths long history of being school leaders teaching school leaders and seeing the effects of their teaching I have seen the Smiths in action separately and together and they know how to lead and how to teach they have a strength of purpose they do not waver from and these attributes come through in this book John Hattie Director Melbourne Education Research Institute University of Melbourne After reading this book you'll truly understand what it takes to grow as a lead learner We can always get better This book provides quality insight on strategies that will make good leaders great Brad Currie School Leader Corwin Author and Co Founder of Satchat Academic History and Prior FCAT Scores as Indicators of Potential Success on the Florida High School Exit Examination Judith Webb Ring, 2007

Is There Something Else Wrong with the FCAT? Terry Froman, 2007 Because 3rd Grade Florida Comprehensive Assessment Test FCAT scores have a direct impact on promotion the results for that grade level are released early by the State When the FCAT results for 3rd Grade were released in May 2007 many people were troubled Over 80% of the elementary schools in the Miami Dade School District showed a decrease in the percentage of students scoring in Levels 3 and above in Reading Similar trends produced an outcry across the state After an 8 percentage point jump in the previous year there was a statewide drop of 6 percentage points in 2007 These results were more than surprising and cast doubt on the soundness of the scoring process After a careful review the Education Commissioner announced that there did appear to be a problem in the scoring of the test and a rescaling of the 3rd Grade FCAT reading exam would be forthcoming This admission by the State while honorable and praiseworthy opened the door for many to question other aspects of the FCAT test sometimes without just cause While it is clearly unfair to discount the overall precision and usefulness of the FCAT some form of careful review of scores is nonetheless proper The search for the same kind of irregular trends in the data that brought this type of problem to the surface is always warranted and should be welcomed Any abnormalities revealed in the examination of the scores need to be made public so that the need for in depth analysis can be considered It is in that spirit that this paper presents some unusual patterns in the data for FCAT Reading at the middle school level Keys to FCAT Florida. Department of Education,1999

Predicting FCAT Science Scores 2006-07. Research Brief Terry Froman,Vilma Rubiera,2006 Although students have been taking the Florida Comprehensive Assessment Test FCAT Science test for a few years the State has only recently set the achievement level standards for the Science test Science will be included in the school grade calculations for the first time in 2006 07 In addition although no official guidelines exist presently the FCAT Science scores will also be incorporated in the Adequate Yearly Progress requirements in the near future With the growing importance of the FCAT Science test it becomes increasingly desirable to have some way of predicting the performance of students In other FCAT testing areas prediction formulas and cutoff scores for success have been developed by this office and made available to schools for several years However because the FCAT Science test is relatively new and because it is administered in only Grades 5 8 and 11 prediction for this test must proceed along different lines This paper presents the results of an analysis directed toward predicting students Science scores based on their performance on the FCAT Mathematics test of the previous year A Relationship Between the Florida Comprehensive Assessment Test 2.0 Mathematics Scores and Racial and Ethnic Concentration when Considering Socio-Economic Status, ESOL Student Population, and School Climate Marilys Galindo,2013 From the moment children are born they begin a lifetime journey of learning about themselves and their surroundings With the establishment of the No Child Left Behind Act of 2001 it mandates that all children receive a high quality education in a positive school climate Regardless of the school the child attends or the neighborhood in which the child lives proper and quality education and resources must be provided and made available in order for the child to be academically successful The purpose of this ex post facto study was to investigate the relationship between the FCAT 2 0 mathematics scores of public middle school students in Miami Dade County Florida and the concentrations of a school s racial and ethnic make up Whites Blacks and Hispanics English for Speakers of other Languages ESOL population socio economic status SES and school climate The research question of this study was Is there a significant relationship between the FCAT 2 0 Mathematics scores and racial and ethnic concentration of public middle school students in Miami Dade County when controlling SES ESOL student population and school climate for the 2010 2011 school year The instruments used to collect the data were the FCAT 2 0 and Miami Dade County Public Schools M DCPS School Climate Survey The study found that Economically Disadvantaged SES students socio economic status had the strongest correlation with the FCAT 2 0 mathematics scores $r = 0.830$ The next strongest correlation was with the number of students who agreed that their school climate was positive and helped them learn $r = 0.741$ and the third strongest correlation was a school percentage of White students $r = 0.668$ The study concluded that the FCAT 2 0 mathematics scores of M DCPS middle school students have a significant relationship with socio economic status school climate and racial concentration The following are appended 1 Miami Dade County Public Schools 2010 2011
