

Chapter 4 - A tour of the cell

- Cells are organism's basic units of structure and function

Concept 4.1: Biologists use microscopes and tools of biochemistry to study cells

Microscopy

- Light microscope (LM): visible light passes through specimen and then through glass lenses:
  - Lenses refract light so that specimen is magnified
  - Observes living cells
- Magnification = ratio of object's image size to real size
- Resolution: measure of clarity of image
- Contrast: difference in brightness between light and dark areas of image
- Organic stain: membrane-enclosed structures within eukaryotic cells
- Electron microscope (EM): focuses beams of electrons through specimen or onto surfaces
  - Revealed many subcellular structures that methods used to prepare specimen (fix, kill) cells
- Scanning electron microscope (SEM): detailed study of topography of specimen's surface (or sample) coated in thin film of gold; translate patterns of electrons into electronic signal sent to video screen
- Transmission electron microscope (TEM): internal structure of cells; aim electron beam through very thin section of specimen

Cell Fractionation

- Cell fractionation: techniques for studying cell structure and function
  - Break up cells placed in tube, spun in centrifuge. Largest cell components sink to bottom forming a pellet
  - Liquid above pellet poured into new tube and centrifuged at a higher speed for longer, resulting in pellets with nucleus, mitochondria, and chloroplasts if cells are from photosynthetic organisms; pieces of membranes, and ribosomes
  - Prepare specific cell components in bulk and identify functions

Concept 4.2: Eukaryotic cells have internal membranes that compartmentalize their functions

- Cells are prokaryotic and eukaryotic
- Bacteria and archaea are prokaryotic
