Autobiography Of A Hunted Priest:

The Autobiography of a Hunted Priest John Gerard, 2012-01-01 Truth is stranger than fiction And nowhere in literature is it so apparent as in this classic work The Autobiography of a Hunted Priest This autobiography of a Jesuit priest in Elizabethan England is a most remarkable document and John Gerard its author a most remarkable priest in a time when to be a Catholic in England courted imprisonment and torture to be a priest was treason by act of Parliament Smuggled into England after his ordination and dumped on a Norfolk beach at night Fr Gerard disguised himself as a country gentleman and traveled about the country saying Mass preaching and ministering to the faithful in secret always in constant danger The houses in which he found shelter were frequently raided by priest hunters priest holes hide outs and hair breadth escapes were part of his daily life He was finally caught and imprisoned and later removed to the infamous Tower of London where he was brutally tortured The stirring account of his escape by means of a rope thrown across the moat is a daring and magnificent climax to a true story which for sheer narrative power and interest far exceeds any fiction Here is an accurate and compelling picture of England when Catholics were denied their freedom to worship and endured vicious persecution and often martyrdom But more than the story of a single priest The Autobiography of a Hunted Priest epitomizes the constant struggle of all human beings through the ages to maintain their freedom It is a book of courage and of conviction whose message is most timely for our age

Answer Key for the Autobiography of a Hunted Priest , 2018-02 The Hunted Priest John Gerard, 1962 The Oxford History of British and Irish Catholicism, Volume I James Edward Kelly, John McCafferty, 2023 The first volume of The Oxford

History of British Irish Catholicism explores the period 1530-1640 from Henry VIII's break with Rome to the outbreak of the civil wars in Britain and Ireland. It analyses the efforts to create Catholic communities after the officially implemented change in religion as well as the start of initiatives that would set the course of British and Irish Catholicism including the beginning of the missionary enterprise and the formation of a network of exile religious institutions such as colleges and convents. This work explores every aspect of life for Catholics in both islands as they came to grips with the constant changes in religious policies that characterised this 110-year period. Accordingly, there are chapters on music, on literature in the vernaculars, on violence and martyrdom, and on the specifics of the female experience. Anxiety and the challenges of living in religiously mixed societies gave rise to new forms of creativity in religious life which made the Catholic experience much more than either plain continuity or endless endurance. Antipathy or the extent to which Catholics became a symbolic antitype for Protestants became in many respects a kind of philosophy about which political life in England, Scotland, and colonised Ireland began to revolve. At the same time, the legal frameworks across both Britain and Ireland which sought to restrict, fine, or exclude Catholics from public life are given close attention throughout as they were the daily exigencies which shaped identity just as much as devotions, liturgy, and directives emanating from the Catholic Reformation then ongoing in continental Europe.

Shakespeare Studies Susan Zimmerman, 2006-10 Shakespeare Studies is an international volume published every year in hard cover that contains essays and studies by critics and cultural historians from both hemispheres. Although the journal maintains a focus on the theatrical milieu of Shakespeare and his contemporaries, it is also concerned with Britain's intellectual and cultural connections to the continent, its sociopolitical history, and its place in the emerging globalism of the period. In addition to articles, the journal includes substantial reviews of significant publications dealing with these issues as well as theoretical studies relevant to scholars of early modern culture. Volume XXXIV continues the journal's series of Forums in which a group of scholars address an issue of importance to early modern studies. The Forum in this issue is entitled Is There Character After Theory? Organized and introduced by Raphael Falco, it features Tom Bishop, Dymphna Callaghan, Jonathan Crewe, Christy Desmet, Elizabeth Fowler, and Alan Sinfield. Volume XXXIV also includes three essays: Roger Chartier on Jack Cade the Skin of a Dead Lamb and the Hatred for Writing; Julian Yates on Stealing Shakespeare's Oranges; and Anston Bosman on Best Play with Mardian Eunuch and Blackamoor and Imperial Culturegram. Susan Zimmerman is Professor of English at Queens College, City University of New York; Garrett Sullivan is Associate Professor of English at Pennsylvania State University.

Edmund Campion Richard Simpson, 2013-12 Recount the life of Edmund Campion, saint and martyr, in this newly revised and definitive version from TAN Books. A new and updated life of St Edmund Campion. Simpson's classic biography has been thoroughly revised and enlarged by Fr Peter Joseph. With a foreword by Cardinal Pell.

Feeling Pleasures Joe Moshenska, 2014-10-30 The sense of touch had a deeply uncertain status in the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries. It had long been seen as the most certain and reliable of the senses and also as biologically necessary each of the other senses could be relinquished but to lose touch was to lose life itself Alternatively touch was seen as dangerously bodily and too fully involved in sensual and sexual pleasures to be of true worth Feeling Pleasures argues that this tension came to the fore during the English Renaissance and allowed some of the central debates of this period surrounding the nature of human experience of the material world and of the relationship between the human and the divine to proceed through discussions of touch It also argues that the unstable status of touch was of particular import to the poetry of this period By bringing touch to the fore in a period usually associated with the dominance of vision and optics Joe Moshenska offers reconsiderations of major English poets especially Edmund Spenser and John Milton while exploring a range of spheres in which touch assumed new significance These include theological debates surrounding relics and the Eucharist in the work of Erasmus Thomas Cranmer and Lancelot Andrewes the philosophical history of tickling the touching of paintings and sculptures in a European context faith healing and experimental science and the early reception of Chinese medicine in England

Error, Misuse, Failure Julian Yates, 2003 If certain objects work well no one notices them As with black boxes their success may be gauged by their relative invisibility and this was the indirect goal of the objects that Julian Yates considers here the portrait miniature the relic the privy flush toilet the printed text and the priest hole a secret hiding place for Catholic priests in Protestant England Because each of these contrivances was prone to error misuse and sometimes catastrophic failure they become in Yates's analysis an occasion for recasting the history of the English Renaissance as object lessons knowing from the point of view of the known It is through such lapses the texts and stories generated to explain away a relic that is too easily faked a miniature that is too curiously real the stench of a failing privy a book that persistently sheds its pages or the presence of so much papist trash in an ostensibly reformed England that Yates recovers the silent work of things in cultural production Drawing object lessons from failing technological devices Error Misuse Failure plumbs the foundations of Renaissance culture in England recovering a curious language of mistakes dirt and parasitism that associates the failures of these things with the figures of Rome Catholicism and Sodom Yates offers a mode of historical inquiry rooted in material culture sensitive to the way humans induct nonhumans animals plants and manufactured things into their communities Historically the book offers a new set of stories about the rise of printing the development of domestic architecture and England's Catholic community stories that remind readers of the ways in which attending to the history of nonhumans requires a radical rethinking of historical landmarks and boundaries
