Alice Wunderland Hinter Den Spiegeln:

Interconnecting Translation Studies and Imagology Luc van Doorslaer, Peter Flynn, Joep Leerssen, 2016-02-25 Isn't translation all about saying exactly the same thing in another language Aren't national images totally outdated in this era of globalization? Most people might agree but this book amply illustrates how persistent and multifaceted clichés on translation and nation can be. Time and again translating involves making transfer choices and these choices are never neutral. Though globalization has seemingly all but erased national ideologies and cultural borders such ideologies and borders continue to play a determining role in conflicts identity politics and cultural profiles. The place where transfer choices and forms of national and cultural representation come together is also the place where Translation Studies and Imagology meet. This book offers a wealth of chapters showing how decisive selection and transfer processes can be in representing national images both self images and images of the other. It shows also how intensely the two disciplines can work together and mutually benefit from shared data and methodologies.

Women in German Yearbook Women in German Yearbook, 1997-02-01 Volume 12 of Women in German Yearbook opens with a cluster of cross disciplinary articles. Sara Lennox explores pertinent theoretical issues and introduces articles by historian Atina Grossman, sociologist Myra Marx Ferree and political theorist Joan Cocks. Three subsequent articles focus on the nineteenth century. Todd Kontje challenges the notion that the Wars of Liberation renewed conservatism regarding gender. Irmela Marei Krger F-rhoff presents a new reading of the father daughter relationship in Kleist's Marquise of O and Helen G Morris Keitel describes the cultural work of Louise Otto's Castle and Factory. Barbara Hales analyzes the criminal femme fatale as evidence of Weimar Germany's deep seated discomfort with modernity. Kathrin Bower discusses poems by Nelly Sachs and Rose Auslnder as searches for the Mother. Charlotte Melin analyzes gender differences in reworkings of the Alice in Wonderland motif. Helgard Mahrhardt explores connections between Ingeborg Bachmann's prose and the cultural criticism of the Frankfurt School and Frederick A. Lubich interviews the writer Elisabeth Alexander. Two articles focus on cultural differences. Karen Jankowsky reads The Facade by Libuse Monková, a Czech author writing in German and Leslie Adelson discusses Eva Demski's Afra in terms of Afro German discourse. The volume closes with the editors views on the yearbook's role in creating an American Germanics. Sara Friedrichsmeyer is a professor of German at the University of Cincinnati. Raymond Walters College and the author of The Adrogyne in Early German Romanticism. Patricia A. Herminghouse a professor of German at the University of Rochester is the editor of Frauen im Mittelpunkt: An Anthology of Contemporary German Women Writers. International Companion Encyclopedia of Children's Literature Peter Hunt, 2004-08-02 Children's publishing is a huge international industry and there is ever growing interest from researchers and students in the genre as cultural object of study and tool for education and socialization.
