Alienation After Derrida Simon Skempton, 2011-10-20 Alienation After Derrida rearticulates the Hegelian Marxist theory of alienation in the light of Derrida's deconstruction of the metaphysics of presence. Simon Skempton aims to demonstrate in what way Derridian deconstruction can itself be said to be a critique of alienation. In so doing he argues that the acceptance of Derrida's deconstructive concepts does not necessarily entail the acceptance of his interpretations of Hegel and Marx. In this way the book proposes radical reinterpretations not only of Hegel and Marx but of Derridian deconstruction itself. The critique of the notions of alienation and de alienation is a key component of Derridian deconstruction that has been largely neglected by scholars to date. This important new study puts forward a unique and original argument that Derridian deconstruction can itself provide the basis for a rethinking of the concept of alienation a concept that has received little serious philosophically engaged attention for several decades. Reading Derrida's Of Grammatology Sean Gaston, Ian Maclachlan, 2011-06-30 With new readings from nineteen internationally renowned scholars Reading Derrida's Of Grammatology is a significant reassessment and informed discussion of Jacques Derrida's landmark 1967 text. Since its original publication Of Grammatology has had a profound impact on philosophy literary theory and the Humanities in general. Through a series of close readings of selected passages by writers from a wide range of disciplines this collection aims to discover anew this important work and its continuing influence. The book includes new readings by Gayatri Chakravorty Spivak J. Hillis Miller Jean Luc Nancy Derek Attridge Geoffrey Bennington Nicholas Royle. Reading Derrida's Of Grammatology is an essential book for anyone interested in Derrida's work from readers new to the book to experienced researchers in philosophy literature and the many other disciplines that Of Grammatology has transformed over the last forty years. Remnants of the Franco-Algerian Rupture Mona El Khoury, 2020-09-28 At the end of French colonization in Algeria four categories of people held French citizenship or had strong ties with France European settlers Jews mixed race individuals and Harkis. The end of the War of Independence exiled most of them from Algeria traumatized them in various ways and transferred many to metropolitan France. Remnants of the Franco-Algerian Rupture Archiving Postcolonial Minorities examines the legacies of these transnational identities through narratives that dissent from official histories both in France and Algeria. This literature takes particular stories of exile and loss and constructs a memory around a Mosaic father figure embodying the native land Algeria. Mona El Khoury argues that these filiation narratives create a postcolonial archive a discursive foundation that makes historical minorities visible while disrupting French and Algerian hegemonies. El Khoury questions the power of literature to repair history while contending that these literary strategies seek to do justice to the dead Algerian father even as they valorize enduring minority identifications. The Limit of Responsibility Esther D. Reed, 2018-08-23 This volume frames the question of responsibility as a problem of agency in relation to the systems and structures of globalization. According to Ricoeur responsibility is a shattered concept when considered too narrowly as a problem of act agency and individual freedom To examine this Esther Reed develops a short genealogy of modern liberal and post liberal concepts of responsibility in order to understand better the relationship dominant modern framings of the meanings of responsibility Reed engages with writings by major modern Schleiermacher Hegel Marx Weber and post liberal Buber Levinas Derrida Badiou Butler Young Critchley theorists to illustrate the shift from an ethnic responsibility built on notions of accountability and attributions to an ethic responsibility that starts variously from the other Reed sees Dietrich Bonhoeffer as the most promising partner of this theological dialogue as his learning of responsibility from the risen Christ present now in the global church is a welcome provocation to new thinking about the meaning of responsibility learned from land distant neighbour global church and the bible Bonhoeffer s reflections on the centre boundaries and limits of responsibility remain helpful to Christian people struggling with an increasingly exhausted concept of accountability

Human Karolina Hubner,2022-02-11 This volume investigates what it means to be human Is there something that makes us distinct from computers other great apes Martians and gods And what are the ethical and political consequences of how we answer this question How have our views on this changed from the times of the ancient Greek and Chinese philosophers What do contemporary evolutionary biologists and advocates of uploading human consciousness onto computers think about it This volume collects new essays from leading scholars in philosophy history and other disciplines to explore these and numerous other questions related to human nature and its significance throughout history

Philosophy after Friendship Gregg Lambert,2017-04-20 The friend the enemy the stranger the refugee or deportee and the survivor In singular and provocative fashion Gregg Lambert s Philosophy after Friendship introduces us to the key social personae that have populated modern political philosophy Drawing on the philosophies of Deleuze and Derrida as well as the work of Indo European linguist mile Benveniste Lambert constructs a genealogy to demonstrate how political thought has been structured by the emergence of such conceptual personae At the center of Philosophy after Friendship is the persona of the friend together with the idea of friendship on which the democratic ideals of consensus fraternity and equality are based Lambert argues that the vitality of this conceptual persona originated by the Greeks has been exhausted by centuries of war In fact we might today be witnessing the overturning of an earlier philosophical idealism that saw friendship as the destination of the political and in its place the emergence of a nonphilosophical understanding that has set perpetual war as the ultimate ground from which future thinking of the political must depart In his Conclusion Lambert proposes a truly postwar philosophy that takes as its first principle the idea of perpetual peace which would require nothing less than a complete reevaluation of the goals of any future political philosophy if not the meaning of philosophy itself

Deconstruction After 9/11 Martin McQuillan,2008-10-07 In this book Martin McQuillan brings Derrida s writing into the immediate vicinity of geo politics today from the Kosovan conflict to the war in Iraq The chapters in this book follow both Derrida s writing since Specters of Marx and the present political scene through the former Yugoslavia and Afghanistan to Palestine and Baghdad His textual activism is as impatient with the universal gestures of philosophy as it is with the complacency and reductionism of policy makers and activists alike This work records a response to the war on thinking that has marked western discourse since 9 11     The Yale Law Journal ,1989     New Formations 22 Greta [EDITOR SLOBIN,1994-04 New Formations is a journal of cultural debate history and theory It brings new and challenging perspectives to bear on the categories that frame cultural analysis and political action The journal has covered issues ranging from the seduction of perversity to questions of nationalism and post colonialism Contributors open up new zones of enquiry whilst drawing new charts of understanding to explain new formations in contemporary life

Phenomenological Hermeneutics and the Study of Literature Mario J. Valdés,1987 Mario Valdés has taken up the challenge of retracing the historical and philosophical background of his own approach to literature the application of phenomenological philosophy to the interpretation of texts     The Fate of Art J. M. Bernstein,1992 Aesthetic alienation may be described as the paradoxical relationship whereby art and truth have come to be divorced from one another while nonetheless remaining entwined J M Bernstein not only finds the separation of art and truth problematic but also contends that we continue to experience art as sensuous and particular thus complicating and challenging the cultural self understanding of modernity Bernstein focuses on the work of four key philosophers Kant Heidegger Derrida and Adorno and provides powerful new interpretations of their views Bernstein shows how each of the three post Kantian aesthetics its concepts of judgment genius and the sublime to construct a philosophical language that can criticize and displace the categorical assumption of modernity He also examines in detail their responses to questions concerning the relations among art philosophy and politics in modern societies     Implications of Five Postmodern Philosophical Critiques for the Pursuit of Knowledge in Higher Education Roger Philip Mourad,1995     Contemporary German Prose in Britain and France (1980-1999) Wiebke Sievers,2007 This case study of the translation of contemporary German literature in Britain and France seeks to address the philosophical and anthropological problem of otherness and to discover its significance for translation theory This work should appeal to scholars interested in German British and French literature translation theory philosophy and sociology central component of the translation process Moreover via disciplines such as philosophy and anthropology otherness in the last two decades has entered Western theories and studies of translation and become an important analytical and normative category in the field of translation studies Nevertheless there is an apparent lack of research considering the concept itself as well as its history and current use in the field and its relevance for the practice of translation the translation theories currently known as foreignizing and shows that some of these draw on the same nationalist agenda that they try to transcend Moreover the ensuing case study proves that current translation practice is still governed by a nationalist assurance of linguistic and cultural differences This book therefore concludes by calling for a change of perspective in the theoretical and practical approaches to translation Translation should no longer be regarded as a means of delimiting our selves from a national other but as a way to uncover the otherness underlying these alleged selves

Animal Lessons Kelly Oliver, 2009 Philosophy reads humanity against animality arguing that man is man because he is separate from beast. Deftly challenging this position Kelly Oliver proves that in fact it is the animal that teaches us to be human. Through their sex, their habits, and our perception of their purpose, animals show us how not to be them. This kinship plays out in a number of ways. We sacrifice animals to establish human kinship, but without the animal, the bonds of brotherhood fall apart. Either kinship with animals is possible, or kinship with humans is impossible. Philosophy holds that humans and animals are distinct, but in defending this position, the discipline depends on a discourse that relies on the animal for its very definition of the human. Through these and other examples, Oliver does more than just establish an animal ethics. She transforms ethics by showing how its very origin is dependent upon the animal. Examining for the first time the treatment of the animal in the work of Heidegger, Merleau-Ponty, Derrida, Agamben, Freud, Lacan, and Kristeva among others, Animal Lessons argues that the animal bites back, thereby reopening the question of the animal for philosophy. American Puritanism and the Defense of Mourning Mitchell Robert Breitwieser, 1990 Rowlandson, a New England Congregationalist minister, s wife was held captive by the Algonquin Indians during King Philip s War in 1676. Several years after she was ransomed and living among the British again, she wrote a prototypical narrative of the captivity. Breitwieser s English U of California penetrating analysis highlights Rowlandson s rendering of biblical doctrine, her critique of Puritan mourning practices, her representations of Indian culture, and her own transformation into a commodity to be ransomed. Papers collected in the volume traverse that space in various directions, shedding some light on its manifold regions, niches, and chasms. Through raising diverse questions of ontology, subjectivity, power, otherness, domination, meaning, etc., the book aims at fulfilling its modest task of foregrounding points of orientation in the space s topography and perhaps of tracing out paths linking its different areas. The Harvard Review of Philosophy, 2007.
