Algemeen uitbreidingsplan Amsterdam 50 jaar H. Hellinga, 1985 Gedocumenteerde studies en persoonlijke beschouwingen over de stedenbouwkundige ontwikkeling in Amsterdam tussen 1935-1985 Population Forecasting 1895-1945 H.A. de Gans, 2012-12-06 Authors scholars and scientists whose mother tongue is not one of the major languages of international communication are seriously disadvantaged Some individuals such as Joseph Conrad or Vladimir Nabokov have overcome that handicap brilliantly Others learn to live with it they can express themselves sufficiently lucidly in a second language to make their voice heard internationally At least when they have something original or striking to say they will be certain to reach their peers Most scientists and scholars fall into that category Others again have to wait until their work has been translated before its value is recognised This may apply even to those whose mother tongue is widely read The writings of Frenchmen Lyotard Derrida Baudrillard or Foucault on post modernism on language discourse and power for example had tremendous world wide impact only after English translations appeared on the market De Gans study of the development of population forecasting in The Netherlands is another striking illustration of the effects a language barrier may have He demonstrates convincingly that although a possibly somewhat awkward Dutchman named Wiebols was a pioneer of modern cohort component demographic forecasting he never received international recognition for this In his thesis of 1925 Wiebols employed the newest instruments of demographic analysis in improving forecasting methodology

Compact Cities and Sustainable Urban Development Gert de Roo, Donald Miller, 2019-05-24 This title was first published in 2000 Encouraging even requiring higher density urban development is a major policy in the European Community and of Agenda 21 and a central principle of growth management programmes used by cities around the world This work takes a critical look at a number of claims made by proponents of this initiative seeking to answer whether indeed this strategy controls the spread of urban suburbs into open lands is acceptable to residents reduces trip lengths and encourages use of public transit improves efficiency in providing urban infrastructure and services and results in environmental improvements supporting higher quality of life in cities Het winkellandschap van Amsterdam Clé Lesger, 2013 Overhangende luifels uithangborden uitstallingen op de stoep en sobere interieurs waren ooit typerend voor de winkels in Amsterdam Vanaf het midden van de zestiende eeuw hebben de puien etalages en interieurs van de winkels echter grote veranderingen ondergaan Cl Lesger beschrijft deze in samenhang met ontwikkelingen in bouwkunde en architectuur de opkomst van warenhuizen en supermarkten en veranderingen in verlichting en glasfabricage Ook de samenstelling koopkracht en smaak van het winkeland publiek spelen een rol De vele afbeeldingen maken de veranderingen zichtbaar Daarnaast besteedt Lesger veel aandacht aan de locatie van winkels Winkels zijn niet willekeurig verdeeld over de stad maar verbonden met de structuur van het straten netwerk die is ontstaan tijdens stadsuitbreidingen en andere grote ingrepen in het stedelijk landschap Pas toen er winkelcentra werden gebouwd in buitenwijken werd het patroon van winkelstraten doorbroken In de vooroorlogse delen van about The Functional City which was held in the summer of 1933 and chaired by Van Eesteren There is special consideration for the underexposed but vital contribution of the Dutch CIAM group and the town planner Cornelis van Eesteren The leitmotif in this narrative is the principle of collectivity the avant garde ideal of concerted action as the basis for the creation of a thoroughly contemporary human habitat The evolution of CIAM is traced using the abundance of archived material that reveals its inner workings Delving beneath the surface of the official history affords insight into the quest for a unique position role and methodology within the architectural and urban development spectrum The book examines the positioning of CIAM during its early years before probing more deeply into the pursuit of collectivity and the idea of CIAM as a cooperative which was primarily embraced by its Dutch and Swiss members The city analyses conducted by CIAM members for the 1933 congress made an important contribution to comparative town planning which was developed in Europe during the early decades of the 20th century After 1936 CIAM found itself in a crisis from which it never truly recovered despite a post war revival and certainly not in the wake of Van Eesteren s influential presidency The rapidly expanding association became a global institution in the 1950s but its influence was waning and the rebellious Team 10 group would subsequently play a greater role Architectuur en stedebouw in Amsterdam, 1850-1940 M.
