GIS World, 1997 Geographical Information and Planning John Stillwell, Stan Geertman, Stan Openshaw, 2013-03-09

The 1990s have seen some remarkable changes in geographical information GI provision and computer technology that have impacted on many of the activities that constitute planning in all its different forms. However relatively few texts in the field of geographical information systems GIS and planning have been published since Henk Scholten and John Stillwell edited Geographical Information Systems for Urban and Regional Planning in 1990. This volume seeks to redress the balance by showing how GI of various types is being used in urban physical environmental socio economic and business planning contexts at local regional and national scales with the assistance of GIS and modelling methods and how the uses of GI and GI technologies have evolved over the last decade. During this period a number of meetings took place in Europe in different locations organised initially by European Geographical Information Systems EGIS 1990-94 and more recently by the Joint European Conference and Exhibition JEC on Geographical Information 1995-97. These meetings brought together members of the GI community from across the world to discuss GI research and GIS applications. One of the Special Interest Groups associated with the JEC gatherings was that on Geographical Information and Planning and several of the contributions in this book have their origins in papers presented to the group's meetings.
