Wild Animals and Leisure Neil Carr,Janette Young,2018-03-05

Wild animals form an integral component of the human leisure experience They are a significant part of the leisure industry and are economically valuable entities However as sentient beings animals also have rights and welfare needs and like humans may also have their own leisure desires and requirements This collection provides an in depth analysis of the rights and welfare of humans and wild animals as the two relate to one another within the sphere of leisure studies It examines a wide array of animals such as wolves elephants dolphins and apes in a diverse range of leisure settings in international locations from captive wild animals in zoos hunting swimming with dolphins and animals used as educators and for tourist entertainment This book provides a forum for future considerations of wild animals and leisure and a voice for animal welfarist agendas that seek to improve the conditions under which wild animals interact with and are engaged with by humans

Animals, Food, and Tourism Carol Kline,2018-01-31 Food is routinely given attention in tourism research as a motivator of travel Regardless of whether tourists travel with a primary motivation for experiencing local food eating is required during their trip This book encompasses an interdisciplinary discussion of animals as a source of food within the context of tourism Themes include the raising harvesting and processing of farm animals for food considerations in marketing animals as food and the link between consuming animals and current environmental concerns Ethical issues are addressed in social economic environmental and political terms The chapters are grounded in ethics related theories and frameworks including critical theory ecofeminism gustatory ethics environmental ethics ethics within a political economy context cultural relativism market construction paradigm ethical resistance and the Global Sustainable Tourism Criteria Several chapters explore contradicting and paradoxical ethical perspectives whether those contradictions exist between government and private sector between tourism and other industries or whether they lie within ourselves Like the authors in Tourism Experiences Animal Consumption Contested Values Morality Ethics the authors in this book wrestle with a range of issues such as animal sentience the environmental consequences of animals as food viewing animals solely as a extractive resource for human will as well as the artificial cultural distortion of animals as food for tourism marketing purposes This book will appeal to tourism academics and graduate students as a reference for their own research or as supplementary material for courses focused on ethics within tourism     Tourist Behaviour Philip L. Pearce,2019

Comprehensive and accessible this Companion offers a thorough investigation into both traditional and fresh topics in tourist behaviour and experience Arranged chronologically the chapters examine tourist experience from the very idea of a tourist visit to the aftermath of returning home     The Routledge International Handbook of Human-Animal Interactions and Anthrozoology Aubrey H. Fine,Megan K. Mueller,Zenithson Y. Ng,Alan M. Beck,Jose M. Peralta,2023-09-26

This diverse global and interdisciplinary volume explores the existing research practice and ethical issues pertinent to the field of human animal interactions HAI interventions and anthrozoology focusing on the perceived physical and mental health benefits to humans and the challenges derived from these relationships The book begins by exploring the basic theoretical principles of anthrozoology and HAI such as the evolution and history of the field the importance of language the economic costs and current perspectives to physical and mental wellbeing the origins of domestication of animals anthropomorphism and how animals fit into human societies Chapters then move onto practice covering topics such as how animals help childhood and adulthood development pet ownership disability the roles of pets for people with psychiatric disorders the links between animal and domestic abuse and then more widely into the therapeutic roles of animals animal assisted therapies interactions outside the home working animals animals in popular culture and animals in research for leisure and food Including chapters on a wide range of animals from domesticated pets to wildlife this collection examines the benefits yet also reveals the complexity and often dark side of human animal relations Interweaving accessible commentaries with revealing chapters throughout the text this collection would be of great interest to students and practitioners in the fields of mental health psychology veterinary medicine zoology biology social work history and sociology     Tourism in Development

Peter U.C. Dieke, Brian E.M. King, Richard A.J. Sharpley, 2020-11-20 Over the last fifty years tourism has become firmly established as a development option around the world. Commensurate with this the study of tourism's developmental role has also expanded significantly. There now exists a broad understanding of the policies and processes opportunities and challenges that apply to tourism's potential contributions to development. As the tourism environment now faces numerous challenges and transformations it is timely to reflect on contemporary understandings of the relationship between tourism and development and to consider future directions. This thought provoking volume challenges the orthodoxy of tourism and development highlights past and current events and considers longer term repercussions and developments. It will be a relevant and enduring resource for academics and undergraduate and postgraduate students in tourism. Positive and Negative Impacts associated with Non-Consumptive Wildlife Tourism

Janine Paul, 2008-06-11 Essay from the year 2007 in the subject Tourism Miscellaneous grade 2 3 Bournemouth University course Tourists and Destinations language English abstract The aim of wildlife tourism is to visit a destination in order to see and gain an understanding of the local fauna without harming the natural environment. Mintel 2006 Duffus Dearden 1990 developed three dimensions of wildlife human interaction which are illustrated in Figure 1. This study focuses on non consumptive wildlife tourism. This form of niche tourism includes observing and interacting with animals without harming them with a special interest in wildlife conservation. Higginbottom 2004 Duffus Dearden 1990 The future for wildlife tourism is predicted to grow rapidly within the next 10 years. A shift away from the single adventurers to a more general target group is forecasted Mintel 2006 leading eventually to mass tourism and more negative impacts. The question is where the desire to be close to nature comes from. One view is that humans evolved in the natural environment changing in response to it. Knopf 1987 Animals have provided much of the food supply for most societies Orams 2002 Furthermore the every day life of the human being demands directed attention and full power. There is the desire to be free unconventional and enjoy life Newsome 2005 Furthermore Kim Jamal 2007 introduce that the today's society is inauthentic and isolated driving people to travel in search for an authentic experience. This could take the form of staged authenticity making a product out of it Goffman 1963 cited in Kim Jamal 2007 The desire to experience nature is stimulated through the media Orams 2002 In addition a growing concern for the environment visible e.g. through the Kyoto protocol enhances this phenomenon Mapleweb 2005 Fredrickson Anderson 1999 30 found that a close relationship to animals leads to a decrease in depression and stress enhancing social interaction as the natural experience enables the tourist a step away from the stresses of life. Wildlife Tourism in Germany

Colette Sosinski, 2017-04-19 Bachelor Thesis from the year 2011 in the subject Tourism grade 1 0 NHTV Breda University of Applied Sciences language English abstract Domestic tourism is growing rapidly in many European countries and due to the diversification and individualisation of western society FUR n d tourism niche markets are gaining in importance Petermann Revermann Scherz 2006 Wildlife tourism is such a niche market and is worldwide one of the fastest growing ones. Mintel International Group

LTD 2008a Western Europeans in specific have developed an unprecedented affinity for daytrips or holidays in natural areas Van Egmond 2008 p 85 and wildlife watching is one of the key reasons why people visit natural areas Mintel International Group LTD 2008a Several European countries have already established an impressive range of wildlife based tours Wolf howling tours in Italy and bear tracking tours in the Carpathian Mountains are steadily gaining popularity among tourists Hofrichter Berger 2004 and the Canary Islands record over one million whale watching participants per year Hoyt 2000 Interestingly Germany is one of the biggest markets for outbound wildlife tourism Mintel International Group LTD 2008a and for 35 percent of all Germans the possibility to watch animals is an important criterion in deciding on the holiday destination Wilfing et al 2008 However no attempt has been made to analyse the situation and potential of wildlife tourism in Germany This document assesses the background situation importance and potential of domestic wildlife tourism in Germany and explores its link to wildlife conservation Moreover it provides information on how to establish wildlife tourism in Germany that benefits both tourism and conservation actors As this topic has not been discussed earlier this thesis can be regarded as a cornerstone in the analysis of the domestic wildlife tourism market in Germany and the author has made extensive efforts to obtain in depth information Two online surveys were conducted to gain insights into the wants needs motivation and particularities of current and potential German wildlife tourists and their interest in wildlife conservation Participant observation and face to face interviews with tour participants and tour guides during three wildlife based tours and interviews with tourism wildlife and conservation experts permitted valuable insights into the possibilities and limitations of domestic wildlife tourism in Germany Intensive desk research completed the picture

Tourism Recreation Research, 2008 Tourism in Marine Environments, 2009 Tourism Review International, 2007 Tourism and Spatial Transformations Gregory John Ashworth,A. G. J. Dietvorst,1995 While there is a considerable amount of recent literature on recreation and tourism as activities there is little that provides a comprehensive review and analysis of intervention or planning in this sector Tourism and recreation include a wide variety of activities occurring within a wide range of environments and spatial scales The purpose of this book is to examine this transformation of space and draw out the implications for tourism policy and planning The editors present a general model of transformation as a guide to intervention and this is followed by 18 chapters divided into four parts The first focuses on the producers and includes case studies from the Spanish coast French mountains and Northern Thailand The second considers the management of the tourism product with examples from the Amsterdam waterfront development and holiday villages in Northern Europe The third section is concerned with consumers as managers of the transformation process drawing on information from nature based tourism sports tourism and festival events The final part provides a more holistic model of the planning of recreation and tourism

Tourism Development and Its Impact S. P. Bansal,2001 With reference to India Leisure, Recreation, and Tourism Abstracts ,2009-03 The Journal of Tourism Studies ,2001 Wildlife Tourism Karen Higginbottom,2004 This is a comprehensive volume on the subject of wildlife tourism written by experts in the field and drawing on a wide range of disciplines. It covers the full scope of wildlife tourism including zoos, wildlife watching, hunting and fishing. Also includes an up-to-date review of the issues of wildlife tourism. New Directions in Rural Tourism Derek R. Hall, Lesley Roberts, Morag Mitchell, 2003. Bringing together a wide range of international case studies by way of illustration, this book provides an interdisciplinary perspective and overview of the latest conceptual thinking on and the evolving strategic roles of rural tourism. In doing so, it provides readily accessible material drawn from a range of environmental and cultural contexts and draws attention to the nature and interrelationships between local and global issues in rural tourism and development.
