Music Teachers' Values and Beliefs Rachael Dwyer,2016-06-03 In Music Teachers Values and Beliefs Dwyer investigates the relationships between teachers learners and music in music classrooms Using Bourdieu's concepts of habitus and doxa as an interpretive lens the book explores the values and beliefs of four music teachers depicted in richly detailed narratives The narratives are contextualised through the examination of traditions of music and contemporary approaches. In the past music education has been shaped by elitist tendencies regarding the types of music worthy of study the ways in which music should be learnt and the purpose of such learning. Contemporary approaches to music education have enacted significant change in some regions and systems while others have been slower to leave behind deeply entrenched values beliefs and practices. These approaches have been blamed for low rates of participation and engagement in school music education despite the fact that the majority of young people listen to and enjoy music outside of school. This innovative book provides music education researchers and practitioners with a new understanding of the impact of teachers personal values beliefs and experiences of music and music education on classroom practice and the impact this has on students experiences of music education.

Educating for Democracy in England and Finland Andrea Raiker,Matti Rautiainen,2016-11-03 With the growth of terrorism instability in the EU following recession and the acceleration of support for right wing political parties in Europe discussions on the nature of democracy and democratic citizenship have never been more important. Exploring the relationship between democratic values classroom practices and neo liberalist ideology in England and in Finland. Educating for Democracy argues that it is the role of governments and the education systems they support to create teachers and students who can voice critically appraised judgements to guide their citizenship. With chapters co written by English and Finnish authors this book analyses the history and current state of education systems in England and Finland with reference to other European countries in order to establish whether they are effective in creating democratically minded citizens. Recent years have seen decreasing control of educator professionalism as governments have become more concerned about economic growth and in some cases survival. The contributors to this volume question whether educators are becoming less effectual as a result exploring the idea that democracy is a dying concept and asking whether educators are now simply creating cogs for the neo liberalistic capitalist machine. This book will be essential reading for academics and researchers in the fields of teacher education education studies and comparative education. It will also be of great interest to those concerned with issues surrounding citizenship democracy and the role of the government in education.
