Green Buildings Pay

Brian Edwards, Emanuele Naboni, 2013-08-22 This third edition of Green Buildings Pay presents new evidence and new arguments concerning the institutional and business case that can be made for green design. The green argument has moved a long way forward since the previous edition and this fully updated book addresses the key issues faced by architect, engineer, and client today. Green Buildings Pay Design, Productivity, and Ecology examines through a range of detailed case studies how different approaches to green design can produce more sustainable patterns of development. These cases are examined from three main perspectives: that of the architect, the client, and the user. Completely revised with all new chapters, cases, sections, and introductory material, the third edition presents over 20 new researched case studies drawn from the UK, Europe, and the USA, written in collaboration with the architects, engineers, clients, and user groups. Examples of office and educational buildings of high sustainable and high architectural quality, an exploration of the architectural innovations that have been driven by environmental thinking, such as the new approaches to the design of building facades, roofs, and atria, cases which demonstrate current practice in the area of energy, eco retrofits of existing buildings, documentation of the benefit impact assessment schemes such as LEED and BREEAM have had upon client expectations and on design approaches over the past decade beautiful full color illustrations throughout In the fast evolving arena of green building the book shows how architects are reshaping their practices to deal with ever more demanding energy standards and better informed users and corporate clients

Building Services Journal , 2007 Audels Engineers and Mechanics Guide , 1921 Interdisciplinary Design Hanif Kara, 2022-03-07 Architects and engineers both claim to be designers though how they define design and the approaches they use to realize it vary widely However their interaction has also created some of the world's most memorable enduring and impressive buildings The unprecedented impact of digital technologies illuminates the complexity and non linearity of the process that these designers go through while massively expanding both the ability to visualize and represent forms and to analyze their structural behavior It has obviously changed both architecture and engineering and so also the potential for interaction between them Interdisciplinary Design began as a course at Harvard GSD attended by graduate students in architecture and also by MIT graduate students in structural engineering and computation In this course students and instructors examined a series of built projects in order to develop new viewpoints and communication across disciplinary boundaries in teaching practice and construction
