Annual Report American Chemical Society,1989      Igniting The Chemical Ring Of Fire: Historical Evolution Of The Chemical Communities Of The Pacific Rim Seth C Rasmussen,2018-01-18 From the rise of chemical technology in antiquity to the present day Igniting the Chemical Ring of Fire tracks the development of professional chemistry communities in the countries of the Pacific Rim Critical in this process was the development of local education and training in chemistry The doctorate in chemistry is generally regarded as coming into existence in early 19th century Germany with the model spreading globally as time passed In early years it was common for international chemistry scholars to train at the ranking German or English universities before returning to their home countries to seed a local version of the doctorate However little has been formally written about this process outside of Europe Representing a first in the field for countries of the Pacific Rim this book documents the detailed history of chemical communities in ten countries from a team of internationally renowned historians Providing insights into how and when these countries initiated local chemistry PhD programs and became independent chemical entities Igniting the Chemical Ring of Fire shows that there is no single path to development

Who's Who Among American High School Students 1988-1989 ,1989      Strengthening High School Chemistry Education Through Teacher Outreach Programs National Research Council,Division on Earth and Life Studies,Board on Chemical Sciences and Technology,Chemical Sciences Roundtable,2009-06-15 A strong chemical workforce in the United States will be essential to the ability to address many issues of societal concern in the future including demand for renewable energy more advanced materials and more sophisticated pharmaceuticals High school chemistry teachers have a critical role to play in engaging and supporting the chemical workforce of the future but they must be sufficiently knowledgeable and skilled to produce the levels of scientific literacy that students need to succeed To identify key leverage points for improving high school chemistry education the National Academies Chemical Sciences Roundtable held a public workshop summarized in this volume that brought together representatives from government industry academia scientific societies and foundations involved in outreach programs for high school chemistry teachers Presentations at the workshop which was held in August 2008 addressed the current status of high school chemistry education provided examples of public and private outreach programs for high school chemistry teachers and explored ways to evaluate the success of these outreach programs
