music performance Bruno Gingras,2014-10-22 Humans are remarkably adept at identifying individuals on the basis of their facial features or other traits such as gait or vocal timbre Besides voice another auditory medium capable of carrying identity information is music Indeed certain famous musicians such as John Coltrane or Sonny Rollins need only to play a few notes to be unequivocally recognized Along with emotion and structural cues artistic individuality seems to be a key element communicated in music performance Yet the means by which individuality is expressed in performance as well as the cognitive processes employed by listeners to perceive identity cues remain poorly elucidated Other pertinent issues including the connection between a performer's technical competence and ability to convey a specific musical identity as well as potential links between individuality and career defining outcomes such as critical recognition and aesthetic appraisal warrant further exploration Quantitative approaches to the study of music performance have benefited greatly from MIDI technology and the application of computational methods leading to the flourishing of empirical music performance research over the last few decades More recently neuroimaging techniques have provided valuable insights into the neural mechanisms involved in the cognitive processes of performing music Nevertheless this field continues to benefit greatly from qualitative approaches given that the communication of affect and identity cues in music performance leads to a rich subjectivity of impressions that must be accounted for in order to lead to a greater understanding of this multifaceted phenomenon The aim of this Research Topic is to provide a forum for interdisciplinary research broadly related to the expression and perception of individuality in music performance Research methodology includes behavioral psychophysiological and neuroimaging techniques Both quantitative and qualitative approaches are presented The scope of this Research Topic includes laboratory studies as well as studies in real life performance settings and longitudinal studies on performers Voice Secrets Matthew Hoch,Linda Lister,2016-05-31 In Voice Secrets 100 Performance Strategies for the Advanced Singer Matthew Hoch and Linda Lister create order out of the chaotic world of singing They examine all aspects of singing including nontechnical matters such as auditioning performance anxiety score preparation practice performance tips business etiquette and many other important topics for the advanced singer Voice Secrets provides singers with a quick and efficient path to significant improvement both technically and musically It is the perfect resource for advanced students of singing professional performers music educators and avid amateur musicians The Music Secrets for the Advanced Musician series is designed for instrumentalists singers conductors composers and other instructors and professionals seeking a quick set of pointers to improve their work as performers and producers of music Easy to use and intended for the advanced musician contributions to Music Secrets fill a niche for those who have moved beyond what beginners and intermediate practitioners need Investigating Musical Performance Gianmario Borio,Giovanni Giuriati,Alessandro Cecchi,Marco Lutzu,2020-05-21 Investigating Musical Performance considers the wide range of perspectives on musical performance made tangible by the cross disciplinary studies of the last decades and encourages a comparison and revision of theoretical and analytical paradigms The chapters present different approaches to this multi layered phenomenon including the results of significant research projects The complex nature of musical performance is revealed within each section which either suggests aspects of dialogue and contiguity or discusses divergences between theoretical models and perspectives Part I elaborates on the history current trends and crucial aspects of the study of musical performance Part II is devoted to the development of theoretical models highlighting sharply distinguished positions Part III explores the relationship between sign and sound in score based performances finally the focus of Part IV centres on gesture considered within different traditions of musicmaking Three extra chapters by the editors complement Parts I and III and can be accessed via the online Routledge Music Research Portal The volume shows actual and possible connections between topics problems analytical methods and theories thereby reflecting the wealth of stimuli offered by research on the musical cultures of our times
