Active Learning For Ones Active Learning Series:

Active Learning for Ones Debby Cryer, 1987 This publication has over 300 activities for children 12-24 months old. The activities are easy to read and do with one child or a small group. Active Learning Olena Lutsenko, Gregory Lutsenko, 2022-02-09 In the context of globalization changes in educational systems it is important to modify approaches to the educational process and introduce learning technologies that allow for maximum involvement in learning. One such technology is the technology of active learning which engages learners through participation in the cognitive process and certain tasks as well as through the collective activities of the subjects of the educational process. This book discusses the theoretical analysis of active learning and contains practical recommendations for its implementation. Active Learning and Student Engagement Mick Healey, Eric Pawson, Michael Solem, 2013-09-13 This book examines significant issues in geography teaching and learning from the perspectives of an international network of academic geographers and postgraduate students. Drawing on classroom experiences and research in a wide variety of educational settings the authors describe conceptually interesting and practical applications for enhancing student learning through inquiry problem based learning field study online collaboration and other highly engaging forms of pedagogy. Other articles focus on approaches for improving the experiences of distance learners strategies for enhancing the employability of geography students and preparing students to engage ethical issues in the discipline. An international audience of educators will find much of value through the use of comparative examples literature reviews encompassing research in multiple national contexts and an underlying awareness of the diversity of practices in higher education internationally. This book is a collection of articles previously published in two special issues of the Journal of Geography in Higher Education. Active Learning for Fives Debby Cryer, 1996 Active Learning: Theoretical Perspectives, Empirical Studies and Design Profiles Robert Cassidy, Elizabeth S. Charles, James D. Slotta, Nathaniel Lasry, 2019-07-11 This book represents the emerging efforts of a growing international network of researchers and practitioners to promote the development and uptake of evidence based pedagogies in higher education at something of a level approaching large scale impact. By offering a communication venue that attracts and enhances much needed partnerships among practitioners and researchers in pedagogical innovation we aim to change the conversation and focus on how we work and learn together i.e. extending the implementation and knowledge of co design methods. In this first edition of our Research Topic on Active Learning we highlight two of the three types of publications we wish to promote. First are studies aimed at understanding the pedagogical designs developed by practitioners in their own practices by bringing to bear the theoretical lenses developed and tested in the education research community. These types of studies constitute the practice pull that we see as a necessary counterbalance to knowledge push in a more productive pedagogical innovation ecosystem based on research/practitioner partnerships. Second are studies empirically examining the implementations of evidence based designs in naturalistic settings and under naturalistic conditions.

Interestingly the teams conducting these studies are already exemplars of partnerships between researchers and practitioners who are uniquely positioned as in between straddling the two worlds As a result these publications represent both the rigours of research and the pragmatism of reflective practice In forthcoming editions we will add to this collection a third type of publication design profiles These will present practitioner developed pedagogical designs at varying levels of abstraction to be held to scrutiny amongst practitioners instructional designers and researchers alike We hope by bringing these types of studies together in an open access format that we may contribute to the development of new forms of practitioner researcher interactions that promote co design in pedagogical innovation

Active Learning to Minimize the Possible Risk of Future Epidemics KC Santosh, Suprim Nakarmi, 2023-11-22 Future epidemics are inevitable and it takes months and even years to collect fully annotated data The sheer magnitude of data required for machine learning algorithms spanning both shallow and deep structures raises a fundamental question how big data is big enough to effectively tackle future epidemics In this context active learning often referred to as human or expert in the loop learning becomes imperative enabling machines to commence learning from day one with minimal labeled data In unsupervised learning the focus shifts toward constructing advanced machine learning models like deep structured networks that autonomously learn over time with human or expert intervention only when errors occur and for limited data a process we term mentoring In the context of Covid 19 this book explores the use of deep features to classify data into two clusters 0 1 Covid 19 non Covid 19 across three distinct datasets cough sound Computed Tomography CT scan and chest x ray CXR Not to be confused our primary objective is to provide a strong assertion on how active learning could potentially be used to predict disease from any upcoming epidemics Upon request education training purpose GitHub source codes are provided

Acting Out! Rae Pica, 2020-01-07 Movement is not misbehavior Current policies in the early childhood field ask teachers to treat children as though they exist from the neck up even though research clearly demonstrates that the mind body connection is vital to development Rae Pica founder and director of Rae Pica Keynotes Consulting and author of the Moving and Learning series advocates for active learning not only because it s developmentally appropriate but because doing so promotes a calmer friendlier and less challenging learning environment Section I provides theory research and language to advocate for active learning Section II offers suggestions on how to update learning environments and Rae offers some of her own past missteps in hopes that readers will be able to learn from her mistakes Section III contains 200 ready to use movement activities that can be easily implemented into the day Most require no materials and every activity includes a

Curriculum Connection so readers can understand and clearly explain why the children aren't just playing     Active Learning Helen Moylett, 2012-10 One of a series exploring the EYFS Characteristics of Effective Early Learning Clearly links the theory underpinning active learning to effective early years practice through illustrated case studies and examples Shows how active learning relates to the other two characteristics playing and exploring and creativity and critical thinking by making links in every chapter to the other two books in the series Links how children learn through active engagement to what they learn across the EYFS prime and specific areas of learning and development This book explores how practitioners can support babies and young children's natural desires to be active in their learning Illustrated case studies demonstrate ways to put theory into practice Helps children to become really involved and concentrate keep on trying when things are hard enjoy achieving what they set out to do     Child Development: An Active Learning Approach Laura E. Levine, Joyce Munsch, 2010-09-16 Although the field of child and adolescent development seems to be an easy one in which to provide active learning opportunities to students few textbooks currently exist that actually do this     Around the Patient Bed Yoel Donchin, Daniel Gopher, 2013-10-16 The occurrence of failures and mistakes in health care from primary care procedures to the complexities of the operating room has become a hot button issue with the general public and within the medical community Around the Patient Bed Human Factors and Safety in Health Care examines the problem and investigates the tools to improve health care quality and safety from a human factors engineering viewpoint the applied scientific field engaged in the interaction between the human operator functionary worker task requirements the governing technical systems and the characteristics of the work environment The book presents a systematic human factors based proactive approach to the improvement of health care work and patient safety The proposed approach delineates a more direct and powerful alternative to the contemporary dominant focus on error investigation and care providers accountability It demonstrates how significant improvements in the quality of care and enhancement of patient safety are contingent on a major shift from efforts and investments driven by a retroactive study of errors incidents and adverse events to an emphasis on proactive human factors driven intervention and the development of corresponding conceptual approaches and methods for its systematic implementation Edited by Yoel Donchin representing the medical profession and Daniel Gopher from the human factors engineering field the book brings together experts who have collaborated to present studies that reveal a wide range of problems and weaknesses of the contemporary health care system which impair safety and quality and increase workload The book presents practical solutions based on human factors engineering components and cognitive psychology and explains their driving principles and methodologies This approach provides tools to significantly reduce the number of errors creates a safe environment and improves the quality of health care     Inspiring Active Learning Merrill Harmin, Melanie Toth, 2006 How can we structure class time efficiently How can we explain and lecture effectively How can we help students master content How can we make learning more real and lasting In this revised and greatly expanded 2nd edition of Inspiring Active Learning educators Merrill Harmin and Melanie Toth provide answers to our fundamental teaching questions and show us how to transform our classrooms into communities of active responsible learners The authors present an array of research based teacher tested strategies for managing our everyday responsibilities from beginning a class to grading homework from instructing large groups to promoting diligent seatwork from motivating slackers to handling disrupters These strategies focus on mutual respect not bossiness collaboration not isolation commitment to learning not fear of failure and the dignity of all not praise or rewards for a few Regardless of our level of experience or the grade or subject we teach the active learning approach helps us Perform routine teaching tasks more easily Discover a higher level of teaching success and personal satisfaction Establish a class climate of full participation and cooperation Prepare engaging lessons that keep students productively involved Encourage students to work energetically willingly and intelligently each day Inspire all students even the most challenging to strive for excellence With its detailed classroom examples and more than 250 practical strategies Inspiring Active Learning is a comprehensive reference for solving almost any teaching problem
