A Place To Remember A History Of The Shrine Of Remembrance:

A Place to Remember Bruce Scates, 2009-11-04 This book charts the Shrine's history from the first fatalities of the Gallipoli landing to the present day Commemorative Spaces of the First World War James Wallis, David C. Harvey, 2017-07-20 This is the first book to bring together an interdisciplinary theoretically engaged and global perspective on the First World War through the lens of historical and cultural geography Reflecting the centennial interest in the conflict the collection explores the relationships between warfare and space and pays particular attention to how commemoration is connected to spatial elements of national identity and processes of heritage and belonging Venturing beyond military history and memory studies contributors explore conceptual contributions of geography to analyse the First World War as well as reflecting upon the imperative for an academic discussion on the War's centenary This book explores the War's impact in more unexpected theatres blurring the boundary between home and fighting fronts investigating the experiences of the war amongst civilians and often overlooked combatants It also critically examines the politics of hindsight in the post war period and offers an historical geographical account of how the First World War has been memorialised within official spaces in addition to those overlooked and often undervalued alternative spaces of commemoration This innovative and timely text will be key reading for students and scholars of the First World War and more broadly in historical and cultural geography social and cultural history European history Heritage Studies military history and memory studies History, Memory and Public Life Anna Maerker, Simon Sleight, Adam Sutcliffe, 2018-07-06 History Memory and Public Life introduces readers to key themes in the study of historical memory and its significance by considering the role of historical expertise and understanding in contemporary public reflection on the past Divided into two parts the book addresses both the theoretical and applied aspects of historical memory studies Approaches to history and memory introduces key methodological and theoretical issues within the field such as postcolonialism sites of memory myths of national origins and questions raised by memorialisation and museum presentation Difficult pasts looks at history and memory in practice through a range of case studies on contested complex or traumatic memories including the Northern Ireland Troubles post apartheid South Africa and the Holocaust Examining the intersection between history and memory from a wide range of perspectives and supported by guidance on further reading and online resources this book is ideal for students of history as well as those working within the broad interdisciplinary field of memory studies Archaeology, Heritage, and Wellbeing Paul Everill, Karen Burnell, 2022-06-01 Archaeology Heritage and Wellbeing fills an important gap in academic literature bringing together experts from archaeology historic environment and mental health research to provide an interdisciplinary overview of this emerging subject area The book uniquely provides archaeologists and heritage professionals with an introduction to the ways in which mental health researchers view and measure wellbeing helping archaeologists and other heritage professionals to move beyond the anecdotal when evaluating the strengths and weaknesses of such initiatives Importantly this book also

I Remember John Thomas Lang,1956 The Oxford Companion to Australian Military History Peter Dennis,1995 This is a comprehensive guide to Australian military history broadly conceived within a critical and analytical framework It contains 800 entries The editors have sought a balance between various types of entries Their interpretation of military history is inclusive extending beyond standard categories such as battles campaigns biographies and weapons and encompassing entries on the structures of various parts of the defence force organization and their evolution military language and customs literature dealing with military themes and treaties alliances and acts of parliament that have had a significant impact on the military Biographical entries vary from long analytical essays on figures such as Thomas Blamey and C E W Bean to much shorter entries on figures of less importance Not every Chief of General Staff or RAN and RAAF equivalent has an entry as the editors say some were undistinguished All office holders of significant rank within the three services are listed in an appendix No attempt is made to duplicate the Australian Dictionary of Biography nor except in two instances have the editors commissioned articles on specific individuals from the historians who wrote those particular entries for ADB The editors focus is different combining essential biographical facts with more commentary and analysis Battles are grouped into overall campaigns thus providing a more integrated approach enabling greater analysis of broader issues The Companion offers essential technical details on every significant weapons system employed in the three services since their inception together with comments that help place those systems in an operational and sometimes political context In addition there are several longer articles on key aspects of military history and culture The entry on conscription while not neglecting past controversies explains the mechanics of the various methods There is an absorbing entry on the ways in which animals have been used by the military Aboriginal resistance to white invasion is covered in a long entry as is Aboriginal service in the armed forces There are also several articles on military influences in Australian culture war films literature art popular culture Complete with 100 photographs and 32 maps the result is a comprehensive work of reference analysis and interest that will come to be regarded as the authoritative work in the field Essays on Mortality Mira Crouch, Bernd-Rüdiger Hüppauf, 1985 Congressional Record United States.

Nationalism, Historiography, and the (re)construction of the Past Claire Norton, 2007 The essays in this collection explore both how the employment of nation state dominated discourses have caused a re imagination of the past and how the past has been re constructed to accord with nationalist agendas Although other works have considered in general terms how nations are imagined this collection takes a different stance and specifically focuses on how the past is used in such imaginations This collection was conceived in an interdisciplinary spirit drawing insights from art history intellectual history literature archaeology heritage studies political science and film studies The authors combine a sophisticated theoretical approach with illuminative case studies from all across the globe including the Balkans South Africa Rwanda the Yemen Italy Turkey Greece and Uzbekistan The Forgotten Debt Giōrgos Euthymiou Charokopos,1998 The English Review Ford Madox Ford,1924 The Bulletin ,1990 The Atlantic Monthly ,1903 The Nineteenth Century ,1896 The Illustrated London News ,1921
