Soft Fibrillar Materials Jing Liang Li, Xiang Yang Liu, 2013-08-06 As one of the most important classes of soft materials supramolecular materials are of a mixture of networks of molecular chains fibrils and a liquid These self assembled fibrous molecular architectures exhibit various functionalities ie superhydrophobicity or superior mechanical strength etc and consist of the controllable structures They can be functioned via micro nano engineering to have some particular added functions ie emission materials tissue engineering scaffolds bio imaging and sensing materials etc They have therefore found broad applications in photography cosmetics food and petroleum industries and not the least in the biomedical sector where there is strong interest in these materials as drug delivery agents The book covers the most important soft functional materials including small molecule physical gels silkworm silk and spider silk fibers and functional fibers with respect both to the fundamentals and to development and engineering methods It provides the reader with the necessary knowledge on the chemical and physical formation mechanisms of these materials and demonstrates that one can rationally design and tune the fibrillar networks so that the resulting materials exhibit the desired functionalities This work is a must have for all Materials Scientists Polymer Chemists Condensed Matter Physicists and Biotechnologists working in this interdisciplinary field

Nanoscopy and Nanospectroscopy Sandip Dhara, Deep Jariwala, Soumen Das, 2023-03-31 This book builds a narrative on the near field optical and spectroscopic studies with an emphasis on plasmonic and photonic assisted nano optics as a tool for superlensing Deliberations on near field studies using confined light in various applications are included along with their commercial implications Single molecule detection utilizing efficient surface enhanced Raman scattering phenomenon in the far field and plasmonic tip enhanced

Raman scattering studies in the near field measurements for fast analysis up to trace level is discussed Features Covers the broad area of nano optical spectroscopy from the perspective of putting the concepts and innovations in the field to use Discusses entire spectra of near field optics and spectroscopy using light Explores gas chemical sensing using surface plasmon resonance SPR in the Kretschmann configuration Includes dielectric nano photonics and optical confinement Studies phonon behaviour using confined light for the analysis of chemical biological and other materials This book is aimed at graduate students and researchers in material science analytical chemistry nanotechnology and electrical engineering

Free-surface Turbulence and Air-water Gas Exchange Sean Patrick McKenna,2000 This thesis investigates the physical mechanisms of air water gas transfer through direct measurements of turbulence at the air water interface To enable this study a new approach to the particle image velocimetry PIV technique is developed in order to quantify free surface flows PIV measurements of free surface turbulence are performed with concurrent measurements of gas transfer in a specially constructed oscillating grid stirred tank for a range of turbulent mixing and surface conditions Surface turbulence vorticity divergence and gas transfer are all affected by the presence of a surface film with significant effects realized for relatively small surface pressures Results show that while a relationship between surface turbulence and the gas transfer velocity is an obvious improvement over that found using an estimate of the bulk flow turbulence this relationship is dependent on the flow regime However the data from the grid turbulence experiments and additional data from experiments with waves can be reconciled by a single relationship between the gas transfer velocity and the  $1/2$  power of the surface divergence which agrees with previous conceptual models These results demonstrate the important role of surface divergence in air water gas exchange and relate in a physically meaningful way the interactions between surface renewal surfactants and gas transfer Proceedings of the National Academy of Sciences of the United States of America National Academy of Sciences (U.S.),2006
