

Wheel bearings, Bearing Buddy Lubrication, and EZ- Lube system

Wheel bearings are the most important part of your trailer's suspension system. They support the weight of the trailer and its load, and allow the wheels to rotate smoothly. Proper maintenance of wheel bearings is essential for safe and reliable operation.

There are two main types of wheel bearings: greaseable and sealed. Greaseable bearings require regular lubrication with grease, while sealed bearings are pre-lubricated and do not require maintenance. The EZ-Lube system is a greaseable bearing system that allows for easy lubrication and cleaning.

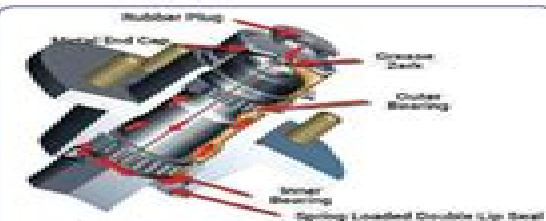

The EZ-Lube system consists of a bearing cap, a bearing, and a grease nipple. The bearing cap is attached to the axle, and the bearing is mounted on the spindle. The grease nipple is used to inject grease into the bearing.

To lubricate the EZ-Lube system, you will need a grease gun and grease. The grease gun is used to inject grease into the grease nipple. The grease is then forced into the bearing, where it lubricates the balls and races. The EZ-Lube system is designed to hold grease for a long time, so you only need to lubricate it once a year.

The EZ-Lube system is a great way to keep your wheel bearings in good condition. It is easy to use, and it keeps your bearings lubricated for a long time. If you have an EZ-Lube system on your trailer, make sure to lubricate it regularly to keep it running smoothly.

Regular maintenance of your wheel bearings is essential for the safe and reliable operation of your trailer. The EZ-Lube system makes it easy to keep your bearings lubricated and in good condition.

Note: Each time trailer is put into water or six (6) months whichever ever comes first, the grease should and can be quickly replaced via the ez system to clean out contaminated grease and Ingress water
