

HADITH 12

On the authority of Abu Mas'ud al-Anṣarī (رضي الله عنه عنه) who said that the Messenger of Allah (صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ) said:

A man from among those who were before you was called to account. Nothing in the way of good was found for him except that he used to have dealings with¹ people and, being well-to-do, he would order his servants to let² off the man in straitened circumstances [from repaying his debt]. He³ said that Allah said: We are worthier than you of that⁴. Let him off.

It was related by Muslim (also by al-Bukhārī and an-Nasī'ī).

Blasphemy, Islam and the State Stewart Fenwick,2016-10-04 This book draws on the work of Rawls to explore the interaction between faith law and the right to religious freedom in post Soeharto Indonesia the world s largest democracy after India and the United States It argues that enforcement of Islamic principles by the state is inconsistent with religious diversity and the country s liberal constitution The book thus contributes to understanding the role of religion in the development of democracy in the world s largest Muslim nation A key objective is to test the argument that Rawls thinking about public reason cannot apply to the case of Indonesia and Muslim states more broadly The book therefore contributes to emerging scholarship that considers Rawls in a Muslim context In addition to examining public reason in detail and considering critiques of the concept the work highlights the fact that the theory was created to deal with value pluralism and is therefore relevant in any religious setting including an Islamic one In doing so it emphasises that Islam is multifaceted and demonstrates the difficulties and negative consequences of integrating faith and law in a liberal state Library Catalogue: Title index University of London.
