Brenda Colvin A Career In Landscape:

Brenda Colvin Trish Gibson,2011 Brenda Colvin was a quietly professional and determined woman Early in her career she visited the United States to see the new civic landscaping projects of designers like Frederick Law Olmstead In England she transformed the surrounding landscapes of power stations new reservoirs industrial sites new towns factories and national parks while also working on many private gardens Colvin s simple and natural planting style her ecological approach and her championship of the role and profession of the landscape architect have proved her lasting legacy She was a founding member and president of the Landscape Institute and her books Land and Landscape and Trees for Town and Country remain standard works With full access to the archives of Colvin and Moggridge author Trish Gibson draws on Colvin s personal notebooks and uses many of her previously unpublished photographs and plans for this book Women, Modernity, and Landscape Architecture

Sonja Dümpelmann,John Beardsley,2015-02-11 Modernity was critically important to the formation and evolution of landscape architecture yet its histories in the discipline are still being written This book looks closely at the work and influences of some of the least studied figures of the era established and less well known female landscape architects who pursued modernist ideals in their designs The women discussed in this volume belong to the pioneering first two generations of professional landscape architects and were outstanding in the field They not only developed notable practices but some also became leaders in landscape architectural education as the first professors in the discipline or prolific lecturers and authors As early professionals who navigated the world of a male dominated intellectual and menial work force they were exponents of modernity In addition many personalities discussed in this volume were either figures of transition between tradition and modernism like Silvia Crowe Maria Teresa Parpagliolo or they fully embraced and furthered the modernist agenda like Rosa Kliass Cornelia Oberlander The chapters offer new perspectives and contribute to the development of a more balanced and integrated landscape architectural historiography of the twentieth century Contributions come from practitioners and academics who discuss women based in USA Canada Brazil New Zealand South Africa the former USSR Sweden Britain Germany Austria France and Italy Ideal reading for those studying landscape history women s studies and cultural geography Women in Scandinavian Landscape Architecture Svava Riesto,Henriette Steiner,2024-12-02 Women were active in landscape architecture in Scandinavia throughout the twentieth century yet little is known about their contribution This volume therefore asks where are the women in Scandinavian landscape architecture It thus presents new knowledge about women s contributions to the shaping of modern cities and landscapes in the Scandinavian welfare states With chapters by some of the most respected architectural and landscape architectural historians as well as up and coming scholars and practice based artistic researchers the book make three major contributions First it asks the previously neglected question of women s contributions to twntieth century landscape architecture in Denmark Sweden and Norway Second it does so from a transnational perspective bringing together researchers from

Scandinavia and Finland Third it documents how collaborative formats for knowledge creation can generate new insights and fruitful links between researchers and research materials The book brings to light new knowledge and new forms of architectural historical work on the contributions of many women landscape architects to designed open spaces

Landscape Architecture: A Very Short Introduction Ian Thompson, 2014-05-29 Landscape architecture plays an important role in shaping the places in which we live and work But what is it Landscape architects are involved amongst other things in the layout of business parks the reclamation of derelict industrial sites the restoration of historic city parks and the siting and design of major pieces of infrastructure such as motorways dams power stations and flood defences as well as the planning of parks and gardens Taking a historical perspective Ian Thompson looks at both the roots of landscape architecture and the people that established it This Very Short Introduction explores some of the misconceptions about landscape architecture and considers the discipline's origins in landscape gardening Thompson takes a look at a number of areas including the influence of Modernism the difference between landscape design and landscape planning and the way that planning legislation has driven the growth of the discipline He also explores contemporary environmentalism the debate as to whether landscape architecture is an art or a science landscape architecture in the community post industrial projects and its relationship with ecological urbanism

The Horticulturist, 2011 Reflections on Landscape Sheila Harvey, 1987 One of the results of the enormous technological changes of the 20th century has been the transformation of the surroundings in which we live The landscape has been altered dramatically both in the urban environment and in the countryside Landscape architecture has played a vital role in attempting to shape and control these transformations for the benefit of all of us and this volume presents a first hand account of the lives work and vision of five of its most eminent practitioners Based on interviews conducted by Ian Laurie and Michael Lancaster and including a posthumous chapter on Brenda Colvin the contributions come from Dame Sylvia Crowe Sir Geoffrey Jellicoe Sir Peter Shepheard Professor Peter Youngman and Professor Brian Hackett Their recollections cover such diverse tasks as the creation of the post war new towns of Harlow and Basildon the landscaping of power stations reservoirs forests and crematoria and the designing of both public and private gardens What is particularly striking in these informal autobiographical accounts is the development of firmly held views on design philosophy education and social problems and the firm conviction that there must be cooperation between all persons concerned with the environment if its future is to be safeguarded This fascinating collection will provide stimulating reading for those professionally concerned with the environment at every level It will also offer the general reader a useful introduction to the world of landscape architecture and an intriguing insight into the professional lives of six
