Collecting, Processing and Presenting Geoscientific Information Martin H. Trauth,Elisabeth Sillmann,2018-03-26

This second edition is an intensively revised and updated version of the book MATLAB and Design Recipes for Earth Sciences. It aims to introduce students to the typical course followed by a data analysis project in earth sciences. A project usually involves searching relevant literature, reviewing and ranking published books and journal articles, extracting relevant information from the literature in the form of text data or graphs, searching and processing the relevant original data using MATLAB and compiling and presenting the results as posters, abstracts and oral presentations using graphics design software. The text of this book includes numerous examples on the use of internet resources on the visualization of data with MATLAB and on preparing scientific presentations. As with the book MATLAB Recipes for Earth Sciences 4rd Edition 2015 which demonstrates the use of statistical and numerical methods on earth science data, this book uses state of the art software packages including MATLAB and the Adobe Creative Suite to process and present geoscientific information collected during the course of an earth science project. The book's supplementary electronic material available online through the publisher's website includes color versions of all figures, recipes with all the MATLAB commands featured in the book, the example data, exported MATLAB graphics and screenshots of the most important steps involved in processing the graphics.

Mac User's Guide to Living Wirelessly Brad Miser,2005 The major force driving people to embrace wireless computing is Wi-Fi. Once dismissed as a fad, Wi-Fi is rapidly becoming ubiquitous in the US and around the world. In 2004, more than half of all laptops sold in the US shipped with Wi-Fi installed. By 2007, most analysts predict that nearly every laptop sold in the US will include Wi-Fi. Nearly 20 million Wi-Fi access points will be sold this year, up 20% from last year. As these numbers grow, prices will continue to fall, making Wi-Fi more attractive to more and more people. By the end of this year, there will be more than 40 000 hotspots public Wi-Fi access points available across the US in hotels, fast food restaurants, cafés, airports, even parks. By 2007, that number will surpass 100 000. From McDonald's to Kinko's to Holiday Inn, Wi-Fi is becoming a killer amenity. Once Wi-Fi networks are in place, they can be used for much more than just Internet access. For example, the AirPort Express allows users to stream iTunes throughout their homes wirelessly. Wi-Fi is being used to network printers, cameras and ultimately home entertainment devices.
