Imaging of White Matter, An Issue of Radiologic Clinics of North America, E-Book Sangam Kanekar, 2014-03-28 White matter lesions have been always challenging for general as well as neuroradiologists. Any disease process in the brain or body can affect white matter making it very difficult to pinpoint the diagnosis. However, the application of the proper algorithmic approach, pattern of distribution and study of the morphology of these lesions makes it possible to limit the differential diagnosis and many times pinpoint specific diagnosis. Advancement of various imaging techniques predominately in MR, MR spectroscopy, MR perfusion, diffusion tensor imaging, DTI, functional MR along with PET has further improved our understanding of these disease processes. However, most of these techniques are new and not well understood by every physician. This issue will cover the topics necessary to master these techniques. Imaging of the Lower Extremity, An Issue of Radiologic Clinics of North America Kathryn J. Stevens, 2013-05-28 This issue discusses imaging techniques for common and important lower extremity injuries and conditions: Femoral acetabular impingement, soft tissue pathology around the hip, meniscal injuries and imaging the postoperative meniscus, the neglected corners of the knee, posterolateral posteromedial corner injuries, the extensor mechanism from top to bottom, cysts and bursa around the knee, ligamentous injuries of the ankle and foot, medial longitudinal arch of the foot, ankle impingement syndromes, imaging of the forefoot, overuse injuries of the lower extremity, imaging of total hip and knee arthroplasties are all reviewed. Additionally, the application of advanced imaging techniques in evaluation of the lower extremity is discussed.
