Reader Stance and Literary Understanding

Joyce Many, Carole Cox, 1992 This book presents background information on the current literary theory known as reader response and examines ways in which response and the teaching of literature has been researched and the findings of that research. It effectively demonstrates the diverse manner in which theoretical principles can be examined using a number of different frameworks. It investigates new theoretical perspectives on reader response theory as well as demonstrating how empirical qualitative and ethnographic research has investigated current theory. Each chapter on research response to literature integrates classroom vignettes and actual student responses in order to offer the classroom teacher as well as the reading and literature research new information about the manner in which children and older students interact with the literature. This volume will be particularly informative to college personnel and graduate students interested in theories and research focusing on response to literature and the teaching of literature. This text is useful as both a reference for researchers and teachers and a supplemental text for graduate students

Each study is set in an individual fifth through tenth grade classroom and is described from its theoretical foundations through the planning for the specific needs of the students to the teaching and finally evaluation.

Making Facts Come Alive Rosemary A. Bamford, Janice V. Kristo, 1998 NAVIGATING NONFICTION.GRADE

4(TEACHERS BOOK) Alice Blevins, Alice Boynton, 2007-04 As students progress through the grades more and more of their reading is done in nonfiction or expository materials content area textbooks reference books periodicals and informative articles on the Internet for example. Because the main purpose for reading these texts is to acquire information the reasons for teaching our students efficient and effective strategies for tackling this type of text are compelling. Students need explicit instruction in identifying and best utilizing the text features and text structures they encounter. If students learn to read the signposts that are guides to the organization of a particular piece of nonfiction they will be better equipped to navigate their way through and comprehend the material. As a complete nonfiction reading worktext program Navigating Nonfiction will help students get the most out of this genre. Teacher's Guide targets critical nonfiction reading skills essential for academic reading success contains simple easy to follow instructional routines provides explicit teaching models and think alouds highlights key research that supports the program's approach includes a full color poster that features a visual snapshot of the five nonfiction structures For use with Grade 4
