2013 Maths Grade 10 Paper 1 November:

Teaching and Learning Secondary School Mathematics Ann Kajander, Jennifer Holm, Egan J Chernoff, 2018-10-24 This volume brings together recent research and commentary in secondary school mathematics from a breadth of contemporary Canadian and International researchers and educators. It is both representative of mathematics education generally as well as unique to the particular geography and culture of Canada. The chapters address topics of broad applicability such as technology in learning mathematics, recent interest in social justice contexts in the learning of mathematics as well as Indigenous education. The voices of classroom practitioners, the group ultimately responsible for implementing this new vision of mathematics teaching and learning, are not forgotten. Each section includes a chapter written by a classroom teacher, making this volume unique in its approach. We have much to learn from one another, and this volume takes the stance that the development of a united vision supported by both research and professional dialog provides the first step. Research for Educational Change Jill Adler, Anna Sfard, 2016-06-17 Research for Educational Change presents ways in which educational research can fulfil its commitments to educational practice. Focussing its discussion within the context of mathematics education, it argues that while research-generated insights can have beneficial effects on learning and teaching, the question of how these effects are to be generated and sustained is far from evident. The question of how to turn research into educational improvement is discussed here in the context of learning and teaching hindered by poverty and social injustice. In the first part of the book, four teams of researchers use different methodologies while analysing the same corpus of data collected in a South African mathematics classroom. In the second part, each of these teams makes a specific proposal about what can be done and how so that its research-generated insights have a tangible beneficial impact on what is happening in mathematical classrooms. Combining two discourses—that of researchers speaking to one another and that of researchers communicating their insights to those responsible for educational practice—the book deals with the perennial question of communication between those who study educational processes and those who are directly responsible for teacher education, educational research, and classroom practices. This book will be key reading for postgraduates, researchers, and academics in education, and particularly in the areas of mathematics education, education research, teacher education, and classroom practice. It will also appeal to teacher educators, practitioners, and undergraduate students interested in educational research.
