

Network/Data Protection

- Ethernet ring network protection is supported on DAC GE3 using ERP (ITU-T S032v2 Ethernet Ring Protection) or RSTP (IEEE 802.1w).
- Ethernet data redundancy is supported on L1 and L2 link-aggregated links (DAC GE3).
- PDH ring protection is supported by an DS1 loopswitch capability, or a ring-wrap Super PDH (SPDH) option.

Ethernet Ring and Mesh Networks

ERP uses standard Ethernet bridging and OAM protocols and OAM automatic protection switching (APS) messaging to provide a fast-acting protection mechanism for ring networks.

RSTP uses a development of the spanning tree protocol (STP) to prevent network loops and provide path redundancy.

Ethernet Link Aggregation (N+0 Protection)

Traffic redundancy is supported on co-path Ethernet links using L1 or L2 link aggregation. If one link fails its traffic is recovered on the remaining link or links. While the reduced bandwidth may result in some traffic loss for low-priority traffic, appropriate QoS settings should ensure security for all higher priority traffic.

PDH Ring Protection

Eclipse supports two DS1 ring protection mechanisms, loop-switch and SPDH.

- The loop-switch function configures a bi-directional redundant ring with a hitless switching capability. Rings can be configured using RACs, and PDH/SDH mux DACs.
- SPDH uses a ring-wrap mechanism formed on east/west facing RAC/RAC or RAC/DAC 1550M combinations. Switching is not hitless.

Platform Protection

Platform management functions provided by the NCC are protected using the NPC option to protect essential Backplane Bus and power supply functions.

Bus Protection

- Protects all circuit/tributary traffic. Alarm I/O is not protected.
- Switching is not hitless for an NCC bus clock failure; restoration is within 200 ms, during which time all traffic on the NTU is affected.
- When the bus clock has switched to NPC control, it will not automatically revert to NCC control on restoration of the NCC. Return to NCC control requires either withdrawal/failure of the NPC, or use of diagnostic commands.

Flight Safety Management

Chi-Bin Cheng, Huan-Jyh Shyur, 2025-02-24 This book offers a comprehensive overview of using artificial intelligence and quantitative approaches in many phases of flight safety management, from proactive assessment of potential risks of flights before taking off to automatic analysis of occurred flight events for commercial airlines. Flight safety is commonly the core values of airlines. Serious flight disasters always bring tremendous impacts and losses to the industry and the society, thus airlines and the authorities always treat the issues of flight safety management as the first priority. It presents the information systems that assist the safety staff and managers to adopt preventive operations or to analyze the critical factors or operations that cause a flight event. Such information systems were developed based on artificial intelligence and quantitative approaches, including fuzzy logic expert systems, deep learning decision making methods, reliability theory, and data mining. After introducing the flight safety management practice and common programs as well as basic artificial intelligence and quantitative approaches, the book describes in detail the information systems we have developed and provides instructions for flight safety practitioners to implement such information systems in their organizations. Case studies collected from the cooperated airline are also presented.
