Across Plains Robert Louis Stevenson:

Across the Plains Robert Louis Stevenson, 2016-06-28 Across The Plains with Other Memories and Essays by Robert Louis Stevenson Across the Plains 1892 is the middle section of Robert Louis Stevenson's three part travel memoir which began with The Amateur Emigrant and ended with The Silverado Squatters. The book contains 12 chapters each a story or essay unto itself. The title chapter is the longest and is divided into 7 subsections. It describes Stevenson's arrival at New York as an immigrant along with hundreds of other Europeans and his train journey from New York to San Francisco in an immigrant train. Stevenson describes the train as having three sections: one for women and children, one for men, and one for Chinese. He notes that while the Europeans looked down on the Chinese for being dirty, in fact the Chinese carriages were the freshest and their passengers the cleanest.

MONDAY. It was if I remember rightly five o'clock when we were all signalled to be present at the Ferry Depot of the railroad. An emigrant ship had arrived at New York on the Saturday night, another on the Sunday morning, our own on Sunday afternoon, a fourth early on Monday, and as there is no emigrant train on Sunday, a great part of the passengers from these four ships was concentrated on the train by which I was to travel. There was a babel of bewildered men, women, and children. The wretched little booking office and the baggage room, which was not much larger, were crowded thick with emigrants and were heavy and rank with the atmosphere of dripping clothes. Open carts full of bedding stood by the half hour in the rain. The officials loaded each other with recriminations. A bearded, mildewed little man, whom I take to have been an emigrant agent, was all over the place, his mouth full of brimstone, blustering and interfering. It was plain that the whole system, if system there was, had utterly broken down under the strain of so many passengers.

dren fell and were picked up to be rewarded by a blow. One child who had lost her parents screamed steadily and with increasing shrillness as though verging towards a fit. An official kept her by him but no one else seemed so much as to remark her distress and I am ashamed to say that I ran among the rest. I was so weary that I had twice to make a halt and set down my bundles in the hundred yards or so between the pier and the railway station so that I was quite wet by the time that I got under cover. There was no waiting room, no refreshment room, the cars were locked and for at least another hour or so it seemed we had to camp upon the draughty gaslit platform. I sat on my valise too crushed to observe my neighbours but as they were all cold and wet and weary and driven stupidly crazy by the mismanagement to which we had been subjected I believe they can have been no happier than myself. I bought half a dozen oranges from a boy for oranges and nuts were the only refectio[n] to be had. As only Differentiated book. It has a historical context with research of the time. This book contains a historical context where past events or the study and narration of these events are examined. The historical context refers to the circumstances and incidents surrounding an event. This context is formed by everything that in some way influences the event when it happens. A fact is always tied to its time, that is to its characteristics. Therefore, when analyzing events that took place tens, hundreds, or thousands of years ago, it is essential to know the historical context to understand them. Otherwise, we would be analyzing and judging what happened in a totally different era with a current perspective.
