Ableism in Education: Rethinking School Practices and Policies (Equity and Social Justice in Education) Gillian Parekh, 2022-05-10 How we organize children by ability in schools is often rooted in ableism Ability is so central to schooling where we explicitly and continuously shape assess measure and report on students abilities that ability based decisions often appear logical and natural However how schools respond to ability results in very real lifelong social and economic consequences Special education and academic streaming or tracking are two of the most prominent ability based strategies public schools use to organize student learning Both have had a long and complicated relationship with gender race and class In this down to earth guide Dr Gillian Parekh unpacks the realities of how ability and disability play out within schooling including insights from students teachers and administrators about the barriers faced by students on the basis of ability From the challenges with ability testing to gifted programs to the disability rights movement Parekh shows how ableism is inextricably linked to other forms of bias Her book is a powerful tool for educators committed to justice seeking practices in schools

Evaluating Achievement of Senior High School Students in Canada Lenora Perry Fagan, Dana Spurrell, 1995 In Canada today there is a clear move toward a more outcomes based education system This report examines the state of high school student assessment and reviews standards and accountability strategies It reports on the policies programs and initiatives in all provincial ministries or departments of education and a sample of school boards across the country Data were derived from a telephone survey of departmental ministerial representatives from all 10 provinces and the 2 territories and from a questionnaire that was mailed to 279 school boards A total of 140 boards responded a 50 percent response rate Data show that both boards and ministries are putting more emphasis on the development of comprehensive policies to cover all aspects of student evaluation There is some movement away from relying on paper and pencil testing as the sole means of evaluation the use of more authentic performance based approaches and a greater variety of assessment techniques are being promoted Some of the best practices in high school evaluation involve use of a broad range of assessment methods introduction of or improvements to provincial examinations greater use of summative and formative evaluations greater emphasis on modifying evaluation for special needs students use of performance based assessment and more reporting to parents and the public Thirteen tables are included Appendices contain copies of the two questionnaires and selected school board material Contains 19 references LMI
