The Airliner Cabin Environment and the Health of Passengers and Crew National Research Council, Division on Earth and Life Studies, Board on Environmental Studies and Toxicology, Committee on Air Quality in Passenger Cabins of Commercial Aircraft, 2002-02-03

Although poor air quality is probably not the hazard that is foremost in peoples minds as they board planes it has been a concern for years Passengers have complained about dry eyes sore throat dizziness headaches and other symptoms Flight attendants have repeatedly raised questions about the safety of the air that they breathe The Airliner Cabin Environment and the Health of Passengers and Crew examines in detail the aircraft environmental control systems the sources of chemical and biological contaminants in aircraft cabins and the toxicity and health effects associated with these contaminants The book provides some recommendations for potential approaches for improving cabin air quality and a surveillance and research program

Air travel and health Great Britain: Parliament: House of Lords: Science and Technology Committee, Lord Broers, 2007-12-12

This report is a follow up to an earlier report published in 2000 HLP 121 I session 1999 2000 ISBN 9780104442005 on air travel and health That report acted as a stimulus to further research into the health of air crew and passengers and led to a broader examination of such issues The report also led to the setting up of the Aviation Health Working Group in 2001 and later the Aviation Health Unit in 2003 within the Civil Aviation Authority CAA which acts as a focal point for aviation health in the UK In this report the Committee sets out the current situation and still finds issues that remain of concern particularly the risk to air travellers of venous thromboembolism VTE A WHO study is to examine VTE risk for individuals with existing risk factors and the Committee urges the Government to continue to support this project The Committee also believes that further investigation into the effects of fumes on pilots and others should be continued The Committee has set out a number of recommendations including that jet lag should be studied as a confounding effect of DVT that the Government should explore ways to increase the research capacity in aviation health that the CAA should implement the recommendations of its own research into aircraft seating standards and increase the minimum seat pitch to at least 28 2 inches the Government should also review the level of air passenger duty levied on premium economy seating also that the Government and airlines advise passengers on the proven benefits of good hygiene in the reduction of disease transmission and that as part of their contingency plans airlines that are flying from areas affected by a pandemic should provide bacterial wipes to passengers that the Government and the AHU work together with airlines and others in providing consistent air travel advice to passengers on the risks associated
