PROLOGUE

Through I often looked the way, I doubtly had no notion that there would be no more the Paris that of it was the way. The world had ended more already and would again at any moment. The war had come and changed us by happening, affairs changed and it couldn't be the way there had once had been. But when you heard the numbers—some millions or fourteen millions—your thought, impossible. Paris was full of ghosts and the walking wounded. Many came back to houses on the Paris. Others, after through and carrying their pieces of what they'd seen behind their
