Buckle,Edward Kavazanjian Jr,2014 This manual is intended to provide a technical resource for bridge engineers responsible for seismic analysis and design It serves as a reference manual for use with the 5 day National Highway Institute NHI 130093 course LRFD Seismic Analysis and Design of Bridges and the 3 day 130093A course Displacement Based LRFD Seismic Analysis and Design of Bridges The manual covers fundamental topics such as engineering seismology seismic and geotechnical hazards structural dynamics Single Degree of Freedom SDOF and Multiple Degree of Freedom MDOF and methods for modeling and analyzing bridges subject to earthquake ground motions It also presents the principles of capacity design applications of capacity design to piers foundations superstructures and connections and discusses the requirements and recommendations of the seismic provision in each of the AASHTO LRFD Bridge Design Specifications and AASHTO Guide Specifications for LRFD Seismic Bridge Design and their common features Lastly the manual addresses seismic isolation design in accordance with AASHTO Guide Specifications for Seismic Isolation Design and retrofitting strategies in accordance with the 2006 Federal Highway Administration FHWA Seismic Retrofitting Manual for Highway Structures    Seventh U.S. National Conference on Earthquake Engineering Earthquake Engineering Research Institute,2021 This is the twenty ninth volume in the Earthquake Engineering Research Institute s series Connections The EERI Oral History Series EERI began this series to preserve the recollections of some of those who have had pioneering careers in the field of earthquake engineering Significant even revolutionary changes have occurred in earthquake engineering since individuals first began thinking in modern scientific ways about how to protect construction and society from earthquakes. The Connections series helps document this important history. This volume in the EERI Oral History Series presents the life and career of Anil K Chopra Professor Emeritus in the Department of Civil and Environmental Engineering at the University of California Berkeley. After he graduated from college in India he went to UC Berkeley to earn his Master's and PhD degrees then taught at the University of Minnesota before returning to join the faculty of UC Berkeley for the next 47 years retiring in 2016. The first class he was asked to teach at UC Berkeley was structural dynamics a course which had been started by his mentors Ray Clough and Joe Penzien. His work in that field resulted in a number of publications on a wide range of topics in earthquake engineering and structural dynamics. Chopra chaired the structural analysis committee of the project producing the influential ATC 3 Tentative Provisions for the Development of Seismic Regulations for Buildings and he tells interesting stories about working with Nate Newmark Emilio Rosenblueth Henry Degenkolb and others. His expertise in structural dynamics resulted in his being asked to write the EERI monograph on structural dynamics Dynamics of Structures A Primer and later led to his very widely used university textbook Dynamics of Structures Theory and Application to Earthquake Engineering now in its fifth edition. A major theme in Chopra's research is the seismic analysis and design of concrete dams. He and a number of PhD students developed procedures for earthquake analysis of concrete dams and he has consulted on dozens of major projects around the world. In 2020 he published his comprehensive book on the subject Earthquake Engineering for Concrete Dams Analysis Design and Evaluation.
