A Guide for Achieving Flexibility in Highway Design ,2004 Context sensitive solutions CSS reflect the need to consider highway projects as more than just transportation facilities Depending on how highway projects are integrated into the community they can have far reaching impacts beyond their traffic or transportation function CSS is a comprehensive process that brings stakeholders together in a positive proactive environment to develop projects that not only meet transportation needs but also improve or enhance the community Achieving a flexible context sensitive design solution requires designers to fully understand the reasons behind the processes design values and design procedures that are used This AASHTO Guide shows highway designers how to think flexibly how to recognize the many choices and options they have and how to arrive at the best solution for the particular situation or context It also strives to emphasize that flexible design does not necessarily entail a fundamentally new design process but that it can be integrated into the existing transportation culture This publication represents a major step toward institutionalizing CSS into state transportation departments and
