Abc The Bachelorette:

Television at the Movies Jon Nelson Wagner,Tracy Biga MacLean,2008-05-19 The overview of television criticism which this book provides comes appropriately at a moment of change Television is becoming dramatically different as a result of new and developing technologies such as cable HDTV satellite transmission and broadband distributions By concentrating on the still dominant notion of television what the authors call Classical Network Television they argue that it is as important to understand this model as it is to understand Classical Hollywood Cinema The co authors have a unique approach to the study of television viewing its history and reception not only through important articles about the medium but also through analyzing how Hollywood auteur cinema has commented on television over the decades in films such as Tootsie Network The Last Picture Show A Face in the Crowd Rollerball The King of Comedy and others Not only does this reflect the pervasive use of cinema theory to discuss television it also helps to emphasize the importance of clarifying the distinctions between the criticisms of the two media Television at the Movies argues that the study of television is a crucial aspect of understanding our recent and contemporary culture and it provides an illuminating point of entry for students and researchers in the field

Reality Television, Affect and Intimacy Misha Kavka, 2008-10-31 Reality Television Affect and Intimacy

shifts current discussions of media and reality from the informative to the affective from knowledge to feelings In reality television Misha Kavka argues everyday reality is the ground for an experience of immediacy or televisual intimacy that is self evidently mediated and performed The book explores this paradox by conceptualising the relation between affect and media For Kavka affect matters because the feelings generated across the screen are real in a material way Investigating such concepts as publicity and privacy in reality TV families performance technologies in Big Brother arranged marriages in romance reality TV and gender race and sexuality in Survivor and Project Runway she argues that affect is the core reality of a public sphere that is reconfigured by its viewing patterns Renewing attention to the complexities of affective intimacies this book offers the rich realities of feeling as a critical alternative to traditional communication models TV Guide ,2006
