The Synagogue, 1944 American Judaism, 1963 AJ, American Judaism, 1961 Jewish Life in Small-Town America Lee Shai Weissbach, 2008-10-01

In this book Lee Shai Weissbach offers the first comprehensive portrait of small town Jewish life in America. Exploring the history of communities of 100 to 1000 Jews, the book focuses on the years from the mid nineteenth century to World War II. Weissbach examines the dynamics of 490 communities across the United States and reveals that smaller Jewish centers were not simply miniature versions of larger communities but were instead alternative kinds of communities in many respects. The book investigates topics ranging from migration patterns to occupational choices, from Jewish education and marriage strategies to congregational organization. The story of smaller Jewish communities attests to the richness and complexity of American Jewish history and also serves to remind us of the diversity of small town society in times past. Neighbors and Missionaries Margaret M.

McGuinness, 2015-07-01. The Sisters of Our Lady of Christian Doctrine community was founded in 1910 by Marion Gurney who adopted the religious name Mother Marianne of Jesus. A graduate of Wellesley College and a convert to Catholicism, Gurney had served as head resident at St. Rose's Settlement, the first Catholic settlement house in New York City. She founded the Sisters of Christian Doctrine when other communities of women religious appeared uninterested in a ministry of settlement work combined with religious education programs for children attending public schools. The community established two settlement houses in New York City: Madonna House on the Lower East Side in 1910, followed by Ave Maria House in the Bronx in 1930. Alongside their classes in religious education and preparing children and adults to receive the sacraments, the Sisters distributed food and clothing, operated a bread line, and helped their neighbors in emergencies. In 1940, Mother Marianne and the Sisters began their first major mission outside New York when they adapted the model of the urban Catholic social settlement to rural South Carolina. They also served at a number of parishes, including several in South Carolina and Florida, where they ministered to both black and white Catholics. In Neighbors and Missionaries, Margaret M. McGuinness, who was given full access to the archives of the Sisters of Christian Doctrine, traces in fascinating detail the history of the congregation from the inspiring story of its founder and the community's mission to provide material and spiritual support to their Catholic neighbors to the changes and challenges of the latter half of the twentieth century. By 1960 settlement houses had been replaced by other forms of social welfare and the lives and work of American women religious were undergoing a dramatic change McGuinness explores how the Sisters of Christian Doctrine were affected and how they adapted their own lives and work to reflect the transformations taking place in the Church and society Neighbors and Missionaries examines a distinctive community of women religious whose primary focus was neither teaching nor nursing hospital administration The choice of the Sisters of Christian Doctrine to live among the poor and to serve where other communities were either unwilling or unable demonstrates that women religious in the United States served in many different capacities as they contributed to the life and work of the American Catholic Church Youth Plan Worship Betty Jane, Betty Jane Bailey, J.
