

Brain, Vision, Memory

Charles F. Corwin

Charles Corwin's history of neuroanatomy and the visual system is intended to tell students all the stories, but especially the lesser ones, between the major figures when they were making advances, discoveries, and mistakes. As well, this is a book for teachers, not only covering the basic concepts of visual perception, but also giving the "why" and "how" of the field.

Charles F. Corwin, Ph.D.

Charles F. Corwin is a neuroanatomist, neurophysiologist, author, speaker, editor, and teacher. He is also best known by the history of his field. In three volumes and continuing the growth of knowledge about the brain from the early Egyptians and Greeks to the Dark Ages and the Renaissance to the present time, he attempts to answer the question of "How the discipline of the brain has developed in spite of the interruptions through the ages and human "history".
