

Each Audix microphone consists of a high density, solid brass capsule housed in a ruggedized, weatherproof housing. The capsule is the primary source of sound and is the most critical part of any microphone. The main concern is to protect the capsule from moisture and dust but not to restrict any movement. Every Audix microphone is tested at your request. The SM series has been designed and manufactured with a focus on great sound quality from your most popular microphone for over 30 years.

• 100% tested
• 100% moisture
