Lecture Notes in Microeconomic Theory Ariel Rubinstein, 2012-03-04 Ariel Rubinstein's well known lecture notes on microeconomics now fully revised and expanded. This book presents Ariel Rubinstein's lecture notes for the first part of his well known graduate course in microeconomics. Developed during the fifteen years that Rubinstein taught the course at Tel Aviv University, Princeton University and New York University, these notes provide a critical assessment of models of rational economic agents and are an invaluable supplement to any primary textbook in microeconomic theory. In this fully revised and expanded second edition Rubinstein retains the striking originality and deep simplicity that characterize his famously engaging style of teaching. He presents these lecture notes with a precision that gets to the core of the material and he places special emphasis on the interpretation of key concepts. Rubinstein brings this concise book thoroughly up to date, covering topics like modern choice theory and including dozens of original new problems. Written by one of the world's most respected and provocative economic theorists, this second edition of Lecture Notes in Microeconomic Theory is essential reading for students, teachers and research economists. Fully revised, expanded and updated, it retains the engaging style and method of Rubinstein's well known lectures. Covers topics like modern choice theory. Features numerous original new problems, including 21 new review problems. Solutions manual available only to teachers can be found at <http://gametheory.tau.ac.il/microTheory>

Economics and Ageing José Luis Iparragirre, 2018-12-11 This upper level textbook provides a coherent introduction to the economic implications of individual and population ageing. Placing economic considerations into a wider social sciences context, this is ideal reading not only for advanced undergraduate and masters students in economics, health economics and the economics of ageing, but also for policy makers, students, professionals and practitioners in gerontology, sociology, health related sciences and social care. This volume introduces the different conceptualisations of age and definitions of old age, as well as the main theories of individual ageing, as developed in the disciplines of biology, psychology and sociology. It covers the economic theories of fertility, mortality and migration, and describes the four main frameworks that can be used to study economics and ageing, namely the life cycle, the overlapping generations, the perpetual youth and the dynamic models.

introduction to advanced topics in microeconomics that emphasizes the intuition behind assumptions and results providing examples that show how to apply theory to practice This textbook offers an introduction to advanced microeconomic theory that emphasizes the intuition behind mathematical assumptions providing step by step examples that show how to apply theoretical models. It covers standard topics such as preference relations, demand theory and applications, producer theory, choice under uncertainty, partial and general equilibrium, monopoly, game theory and imperfect competition, externalities and public goods, and contract theory. But its intuitive and application-oriented approach provides students with a bridge to more technical topics. The book can be used by advanced undergraduates as well as Masters students in economics, finance and public policy, and by PhD students in programs with an applied focus. The text connects each topic with recent findings in behavioral and experimental economics and discusses these results in context within the appropriate chapter. Step-by-step examples appear immediately after the main theoretical findings and end-of-chapter exercises help students understand how to approach similar exercises on their own. An appendix reviews basic mathematical concepts. A separate workbook, Practice Exercises for Advanced Microeconomic Theory, offers solutions to selected problems with detailed explanations. The textbook and workbook together help students improve both their theoretical and practical preparation in advanced microeconomics.
