Probabilistic Methods Applied to Electric Power Systems Samy G. Krishnasamy,2013-10-22 Probabilistic Methods Applied to Electric Power Systems contains the proceedings of the First International Symposium held in Toronto Ontario Canada on July 11 13 1986 The papers explore significant technical advances that have been made in the application of probability methods to the design of electric power systems This volume is comprised of 65 chapters divided into 10 sections and begins by discussing the probabilistic methodologies used in the assessment of power system reliability and structural design The following chapters focus on the applications of probabilistic techniques to the analysis and design of transmission systems and structures evaluation of design and reliability of distribution systems system planning and assessment of performance of transmission system components such as insulators tower joints and foundations The probability based procedures for dealing with data bases such as wind load and ice load are also considered along with the effects of weather induced loads on overhead power lines and the use of probability methods in upgrading existing power lines and components The final section deals with applications of probability methods to power system problems not covered in other chapters This book will be of value to engineers involved in uprating designing analyzing and assessing reliability of transmission and distribution systems Design of Reinforced Concrete Shells and Folded Plates VARGHESE, P. Modeling of coal gasification for fuel cell utilization M. L. Finson,United States. Department of Energy. Division of Fossil Fuel Utilization,1978 This report summarizes recent progress on a DOE supported program to construct computer models for potential future combined coal gasification fuel cell power generation systems The approach is to develop physically well founded descriptions for the performance of both molten carbonate fuel cells and coal gasifiers and to utilize the models to prepare performance maps for each device enabling selection of the optimum interfaces between fuel cells and gasifiers In a previous phase of the study we identified entrained flow gasification as the most appropriate type for providing fuel cell feed gas on the basis of off gas composition and the ability to handle a wide range of coal types Accordingly a substantial portion of the current effort is concerned with the development of a computer model for entrained flow gasifiers Furthermore several scaling laws have been developed for fuel cell performance Mostly based on equilibrium open circuit considerations to date these address such issues as the requirements for avoiding carbon deposition the potential effects of methane conversion and the distribution of heat sources and sinks within the cell
