The Idea of Europe in British Travel Narratives, 1789-1914 Katarina Gephardt, 2016-03-03 The nineteenth century was the heyday of travel with Britons continually reassessing their own culture in relation to not only the colonized but also other Europeans especially the ones that they encountered on the southern and eastern peripheries of the continent Offering illustrative case studies Katarina Gephardt shows how specific rhetorical strategies used in contemporary travel writing produced popular fictional representations of continental Europe in the works of Ann Radcliffe Lord Byron Charles Dickens and Bram Stoker She examines a wide range of autobiographical and fictional travel narratives to demonstrate that the imaginative geographies underpinning British ideas of Europe emerged from the spaces between fact and fiction Adding texture to her study are her analyses of the visual dimensions of cross cultural representation and of the role of evolving technologies in defining a shared set of rhetorical strategies Gephardt argues that British writers envisioned their country simultaneously as distinct from the Continent and as a part of Europe anticipating the contradictory British discourse around European integration that involves both fear that the European super state will violate British sovereignty and a desire to play a more central role in the European Union

The Holocaust Novel Efraim Sicher, 2013-10-31 The first comprehensive study of Holocaust literature as a major postwar literary genre The Holocaust Novel provides an ideal student guide to the powerful and moving works written in response to this historical tragedy This student friendly volume answers a dire need for readers to understand a genre in which boundaries and often blurred between history fiction autobiography and memoir Other essential features for students here include an annotated bibliography chronology and further reading list Major texts discussed include such widely taught works as Night Maus The Shawl Schindler's List Sophie's Choice White Noise and Time's Arrow

National Poetry, Empires and War David Aberbach, 2016-09-13 Nationalism has given the world a genre of poetry bright with ideals of justice freedom and the brotherhood of man but also at times burning with humiliation and grievance hatred and lust for revenge driving human kind as the Austrian poet Grillparzer put it From humanity via nationality to bestiality National Poetry Empires and War considers national poetry and its glorification of war from ancient to modern times in a series of historical social and political perspectives Starting with the Hebrew Bible and Homer and moving through the Crusades and examples of subsequent empires this book has much on pre modern national poetry but focuses chiefly on post 1789 poetry which emerged from the weakening and collapse of empires as the idealistic liberalism of nationalism in the age of Byron Whitman D Annunzio Yeats Bialik and Kipling was replaced by darker purposes culminating in World War I and the rise of fascism Many national poets are the subject of countless critical and biographical studies but this book aims to give a panoramic view of national poetry as a whole It will be of great interest to any scholars of nationalism Jewish Studies

Wilt, 1996 From 1937 through 1945 Hollywood produced over 1 000 films relating to the war This enormous and exhaustive reference work first analyzes the war films as sociopolitical documents Part one entitled The Crisis Abroad 1937 1941 focuses on movies that reflected America's increasing uneasiness Part two Waging War 1942 1945 reveals that many movies made from 1942 through 1945 included at least some allusion to World War II      Poland's Holocaust Tadeusz

American Novelists, 1910-1945: F. Scott Fitzgerald-O.E. Röhlvaag James J. Martine, 1981 Contains biographical sketches of the men and women who have done their most important work in the novel during the period from 1910 1945      W.M. Thackeray's European Sketch Books Siegbert Salomon Prawer, 2000 This copiously illustrated study focuses for the first time in any language on the whole range of Thackeray's verbal and graphic portraits and caricatures of European men women and children of his own and earlier periods It takes its readers on what he called a Roundabout Journey in which they look through the eyes of a variety of narrators and personae at natives of France Greece Italy Switzerland the Habsburg Empire Poland Russia Scandinavia the Low Countries Spain Portugal and Turkey There are a few German examples too but these are peripheral here because the author has considered them in depth in a previous book Breeches and Metaphysics Thackeray's German Discourse The contexts in which these portraits and caricatures are set include more or less ironized stereotypes and conventions impressions of landscapes and townscapes trade and diplomatic relations European literature drama showmanship journalism music and many varieties of the pictorial arts Some of the most memorable portrayals characterize past and present writers and artists through descriptive analyses of their work Contemporary prejudices and received opinions relating to class gender and nationality flow freely into such characterizations but they are constantly relativized by the interposition of quirky narrators and a keen sense of the failings and snobberies of Britons observed at home and abroad While reflecting his time in many ways Thackeray's discourse also helped to shape it and a close scrutiny of the European portraits here disengaged from his work should serve to enhance his stature as a shrewd and witty observer a gifted
