Aerial Life Spaces Mobilities Affects:

Aerial Life Peter Adey, 2010-09-29 NOMINATED AND SHORT LISTED FOR THE SURVEILLANCE STUDIES BOOK PRIZE 2011 This theoretically informed research explores what the development and transformation of air travel has meant for societies and individuals Brings together a number of interdisciplinary approaches towards the aeroplane and its relation to society Presents an original theory that our societies are aerial societies or aerealities and shows how we are both enabled and threatened by aerial mobility Features a series of detailed international case studies which map the history of aviation over the past century from the promises of early flight to World War II bombing campaigns and to the rise of international terrorism today Demonstrates the transformational capacity of air transport to shape societies bodies and individual identities Offers startling historical evidence and bold new ideas about how the social and material spaces of the aeroplane are considered in the modern era

Transport, Mobility, and the Production of Urban Space Julie Cidell, David Prytherch, 2015-05-01 The contemporary urban experience is defined by flow and structured by circulating people objects and energy Geographers have long provided key insights into transportation systems But today concerns for social justice and sustainability motivate new critical approaches to mobilities Reimagining the city prompts an important question How best to rethink urban geographies of transport and mobility This original book explores connections in theory and practice between transport geographies and new mobilities in the production of urban space It provides a broad introduction to intersecting perspectives of urban geography transport geography and mobilities studies on urban places of flows Diverse international and leading edge contributions reinterpret everyday intersections as nodes urban corridors as links cities and regions as networks and the discourses and imaginaries that frame the politics and experiences of mobility The chapters illuminate nearly all aspects of urban transport from street regulation and roadway planning intended and subversive practices of car and truck drivers planning and promotion of mass transit investments and the restructuring of freight and logistics networks Together these offer a unique and important contribution for social scientists planners and others interested in the politics of the city on the move

Mobility, Space and Culture Peter Merriman, 2012-07-26 Over the past ten to fifteen years there has emerged an increasing concern with mobility in the social sciences and humanities In Mobility Space and Culture Peter Merriman provides an important and timely contribution to the mobilities turn in the social sciences encouraging academics to rethink the relationship between movement embodied practices space and place The book takes an interdisciplinary approach drawing upon theoretical and empirical work from across the social sciences and humanities to provide a critical evaluation of the relationship between mobility and place site reformulating places as in process open and dynamic spatial formations Merriman draws upon post structuralist writings on space practice and society to demonstrate how movement is not simply practised or experienced in relation to space and time but gives rise to rhythms forces atmospheres affects and materialities which are often more crucial to embodied apprehensions of events than sensibilities of spatiality and temporality He draws upon detailed empirical research on experiences of and social reactions to driving in late Victorian and Edwardian Britain to trace how the motor car became associated with sensations of movement space and enmeshed with debates about embodiment health visibility gender and politics The book will be essential reading for undergraduates and postgraduates studying mobility in sociology geography cultural studies politics transport studies and history

Encountering Affect Dr Ben Anderson, 2014-07-28 In Encountering Affect Ben Anderson explores why understanding affect matters and offers one account of affective life that hones in the different ways in which affects are ordered Intervening in debates around non representational theories he argues that affective life is always already mediated the never finished product of apparatuses encounters and conditions Through a wide range of examples including dread debility dependency in torture ordinary hopes and precariousness Anderson shows the significance of affect for understanding life today

After the Human Sherryl Vint, 2020-12-10 It showcases how posthumanism has transformed the humanities and what new work is now possible in light of this unsettling

Islamabad and the Politics of International Development in Pakistan Markus Daechsel, 2015-03-19 This is a highly original account of the design and development of Pakistan's capital city one of the most iconic and ambitious urban reconstruction projects of the twentieth century Balancing archival research with fresh theoretical insights Markus Daechsel surveys the successes and failures of Greek urbanist Constantinos A Doxiadis's most ambitious endeavour Islamabad analysing how the project not only changed the international order but the way in which the Pakistani state operated in the 1950s and 1960s In dissecting Doxiadis's fraught encounter with Pakistani policy makers bureaucrats and ordinary citizens the book offers an unprecedented account of Islamabad's place in post war international development Daechsel provides new insights into this period and explores the history of development as a charged transnational venture between foreign consultants and donors on the one side and the postcolonial nation state on the other

Before Photography Kirsten Belgum, Vance Byrd, John D. Benjamin, 2021-03-08 Recent years have seen a wealth of new scholarship on the history of photography cinema digital media and video games yet less attention has been devoted to earlier forms of visual culture The nineteenth century witnessed a dramatic proliferation of new technologies devices and print processes which provided growing audiences with access to more visual material than ever before This volume brings together the best aspects of interdisciplinary scholarship to enhance our understanding of the production dissemination and consumption of visual media prior to the predominance of photographic reproduction By setting these examples against the backdrop of demographic educational political commercial scientific and industrial shifts in Central Europe these essays reveal the diverse ways that innovation in visual culture affected literature philosophy journalism the history of perception exhibition culture and the representation of nature and human life in both print and material culture in local national transnational and global contexts

Island Futures Mimi Sheller, 2020-10-16 In Island Futures Mimi Sheller delves into the ecological crises and reconstruction challenges affecting the entire Caribbean region

during a time of climate catastrophe Drawing on fieldwork on postearthquake reconstruction in Haiti flooding on the Haitian Dominican border and recent hurricanes Sheller shows how ecological vulnerability and the quest for a just recovery in the Caribbean emerge from specific transnational political economic and cultural dynamics Because foreigners are largely ignorant of Haiti s political cultural and economic contexts especially the historical role of the United States their efforts to help often exacerbate inequities Caribbean survival under ever worsening environmental and political conditions Sheller contends demands radical alternatives to the pervasive neocolonialism racial capitalism and US military domination that have perpetuated what she calls the coloniality of climate Sheller insists that alternative projects for Haitian reconstruction social justice and climate resilience and the sustainability of the entire region must be grounded in radical Caribbean intellectual traditions that call for deeper transformations of transnational economies ecologies and human relations writ large
