

Anticipation/Reaction Assignment

The Crucible: Anticipation/Reaction Assignment

ANTICIPATION

Part I:

Prior to reading the play, students read the list of 15 statements in Deep Thoughts Packet 1, choose one of these to write about, and then write a response to that statement. Students may choose any one of the 15 statements. If a student response is more than a half of a page, the student earns 12 of 20 points. If it is a page long, the student earns 16 of 20 points. If it is more than 1 ½ pages long, the student earns 20 of 20 points. (The point of the assignment is to make the student truly think about the statement and give an honest response to it.)

The original student responses will be read by two other classmates. Each classmate will write a short reaction piece to the original response. (The point of the assignment is to get classmates thinking and reacting to each other.)

The teacher may choose to follow this up with a discussion in class, having students discuss what they wrote.

REACTION

Part II:

After reading the play, students read the list of 15 statements in Deep Thoughts Packet 2, choose one of the statements where their beliefs changed, describe reading the play, and then write a response to that statement. If a student response is more than a half of a page, the student earns 12 of 20 points. If it is a page long, the student earns 16 of 20 points. If it is more than 1 ½ pages long, the student earns 20 of 20 points. (The point of the assignment is to make the student truly think about the statement and give an honest response to it.)

The original student responses will be read by two other classmates. Each classmate will write a short reaction piece to the original response. (The point of the assignment is to get classmates thinking and reacting to each other.)

The teacher may choose to follow this up with a discussion in class, having students discuss what they wrote.
