Precautionary Statements

There are four types of Precautionary Statements used on labels:

Dispositions -- Dispositions meant to keep you from harm.

Example -- "Keep protective gloves."

Responses -- Responses providing steps to take if you have been exposed to a chemical hazard.

Example -- "Immediately call a poison center or doctor/physician."

Storage -- Explosives that make way for storing the chemical.

Example -- "Keep container tightly closed."

Disposal -- The last statement explains how to dispose of the chemical safely.

Example -- "Dispose of container/contents in accordance with local regulations."

Hazard Picograms

Minimum Requirements for a Chemical Label

- Product Identifier -- This is the unique name or number used to identify a hazardous chemical. The name (Product Identifier) must be used for the label, SDS and required accompanying chemical data for each chemical.
- Signal Word -- A word used to alert employees of a potential hazard and the relative level of severity. The four signal words used are: Danger -- Used for more severe hazards; Warning -- Used for less severe hazards.
- Supplier Identification -- The name, address, and telephone number of the supplier.
- Hazard Statements -- Information describing the nature of the chemical hazard and the degree of the hazard. (Example: "Very Flammable".)
- Precautionary Statements -- A phrase describing recommended measures for protection or prevention actions needed from exposure to the hazardous substance on transport storage or handling. See additional information in the text.
- Hazard Paragraphs -- A hazard which is related to convey specific information about the hazard of a chemical. See additional information above.
- Supplemental Information -- Manufacturers, importers or distributors may choose to add supplementary information to the label when it provides further details and does not contradict or cast doubt on the reliability of the hazard and hazard information.
