Mood Paul Portner, 2018-01-05 This book presents the essential background for understanding semantic theories of mood Mood as a category is widely used in the description of languages and the formal analysis of their grammatical properties It typically refers to the features of a sentence individual morphemes or grammatical patterns that reflect how the sentence contributes to the modal meaning of a larger phrase or that indicate the type of fundamental pragmatic function that it has in conversation In this volume Paul Portner discusses the most significant semantic theories relating to the two main subtypes of mood verbal mood including the categories of indicative and subjunctive subordinate clauses and sentence mood encompassing declaratives interrogatives and imperatives He evaluates those theories compares them and draws connections between seemingly disparate approaches and he formalizes some of the literature s most important ideas in new ways in order to draw out their most significant insights Ultimately this work shows that there are crucial connections between verbal mood and sentence mood which point the way towards a more general understanding of how mood works and its relation to other topics in linguistics it also outlines the type of semantic and pragmatic theory which will make it possible to explain these relations The book will be a valuable resource for researchers and students from advanced undergraduate level upwards in the fields of semantics and pragmatics philosophy computer science and psychology
