The second and third "a" have been deleted and the preposition "in" has been placed inside these collocations from a much longer phrase about making decisions when the government's opposition members stage a protest. When these were the only two collocations, nothing was necessarily gained, as the first one is a common, though very rare, construction, and the last one is also quite common. However, the omission of "in" creates a more rhythmic sequence of words, and the omission of "the" creates a more natural-sounding sequence of words.

During this period a range of new technologies developed, such as the microchip, the laser, and the Internet, which have transformed the way we live and work. The impact of these technologies on society has been profound, leading to significant changes in the way we communicate, work, and live.

The other two groups share features also typical to the Streptococci and Leuconostocaceae. Thus they share many characteristics with the major lactic acid genera, Lactobacillus, and the marked lactic acid genera, Lactococcus, and Leuconostoc, in their morphology, cellular ultrastructure, and metabolic features. These genera are members of the Leuconostocaceae subfamily. These genera, however, are more diverse in their nutritional needs and more heterotrophic, requiring the use of a wider range of substrates and energy sources, especially those which generally provide for a more rapid growth rate.
