Lewis,Brandi Simonsen,Kent McIntosh,Heather Peshak George,2025-09-26 This Second Edition of the handbook reflects the expanding growth and sophistication in research on positive behavior support PBS It synthesizes a large body of related research and is organized around school district and statewide multitiered systems of support logic that is widely prevalent in the field. The handbook organizes chapters into a powerful dynamic knowledge base that covers theory, research, and applications. In addition, it offers a set of foundational chapters as well as addresses future directions in research and practice. Key areas of coverage include Foundations and essential features of PBS, Implementation of PBS across K-12 educational settings, Program implementation e.g. early childhood and alternative settings, Capacity building using PBS. The Handbook of Positive Behavior Support, Second Edition, a must-have resource for researchers, professors, and graduate students, as well as clinicians, therapists, and other professionals and practitioners in developmental, clinical, child, and school psychology, social work, public health, child and adolescent psychiatry, family studies, pediatrics, and all related disciplines.

Implementing Effective Behavior Intervention Plans Curt Johnson, 2018-02-15 Whether written by a school psychologist, BCBA, or skilled practitioner of any variety, all behavior intervention plans face the same difficulty: the writer and implementer are not the same person. Too frequently, successful BIPs are discounted and discarded by those responsible for implementation. Many BIPs are simply filed rather than followed. Without additional burden to time-constrained professionals, this book addresses how to effectively and efficiently increase implementation fidelity. Using a systems analysis approach to school climate interwoven with ample case studies, school psychologists will be guided through eleven chapters of a step-by-step process to effectively create and implement behavior intervention plans.

Connecting High-Leverage Practices to Student Success Melissa C. Jenkins, Wendy W. Murawski, 2023-06-14 Transform classrooms and student performance with evidence-based effective practices. Two brains are better than one, as the saying goes, and this is especially true in education. Educators who employ effective collaboration and co-teaching greatly amplify student engagement, achievement, and growth, particularly for those learners needing extra support. Written by two of the nation's top experts in co-teaching, Connecting High-Leverage Practices to Student Success is an essential, reader-friendly guide for educators and instructional leaders who are passionate about creating truly inclusive classrooms where all students thrive academically, behaviorally, socially, and emotionally. Inside, authors Melissa Jenkins and Wendy Murawski provide three clearly defined steps to build a strong foundation, leverage collaboration, and support students' growth. A laser focus on high-leverage and evidence-based practices for general and special education that optimize educators' impact, including collaboration, instruction, assessment, and social-emotional behavior skills. Seamless integration of practices within MTSS and RTI processes to meet the needs of all learners. Countless and concrete samples, examples, tools, reflection exercises, and supplemental materials that enable you to move from theory to immediate instructional practice. Positioning collaboration as the catalyst to maximizing high-leverage and evidence-based practices for the success of all students, this easy-to-use handbook belongs on the desk of every teacher working toward a truly inclusive environment.

Writing A Behavioral Intervention Plan Using Functional Behavior Assessment Data Laura A. Riffel, 2009-06-05 This is a workbook format. This book uses ten days of real data and teaches the learner how to

An Evaluation of Behavior Intervention Plans Carly Parkinson Atchley, 2021 Behavior Intervention Plans BIPs are used in public schools for students with disabilities replacing target behaviors with socially appropriate behaviors using positive behavior support strategies However research suggests that BIPs are often poorly written or fail to be implemented as intended One reason for the ineffectiveness of BIPs may be that the interventionist e g classroom teacher or other staff member responsible for implementing the plan and the context of his her classroom is not considered when plans are written by specialists e g school psychologist special education teacher etc The purpose of this study was to evaluate BIPs written and used for students in public schools in the intermountain west for their contextual fit using a researcher developed measure of contextual fit based on key concepts previously established in research and modeled after the Behavior Support Plan Quality Evaluation Second Edition BSP QE II With the coding guide created by our research team we coded previously collected BIPs for practicality the skill level and competency required for the interventionist to implement and the consideration of cultural values for both the interventionist and the student who would receive the intervention In addition a previous research study by a graduate student at the same university had previously coded BIPs from the four school districts in Utah for technical adequacy using the BSP QE II and using the results from that study we ran a Pearson correlation to determine whether there was a statistically significant relationship between BIP quality and contextual fit Ultimately our study found that BIPs often failed to include all elements for contextual fit to reasonably be considered established particularly in the cultural values of those who would implement or receive the plan In addition we found a moderate positive relationship between BIP technical adequacy and contextual fit Implications for practitioners and ideas for future research are also discussed including ensuring that BIPs are developed in teams that include the interventionist creating BIP templates that are culturally and contextually appropriate and the possibility of research that documents actual interventionist participation in BIP team meetings as a comparison to the results of our scoring guide of BIP contextual fit
