Disaster and Crisis Management Naim Kapucu, Arjen Boin, 2017-10-02 A wide range of natural hazards pose major risks to the lives and livelihoods of large populations around the world Man made disasters caused by technological failures industrial accidents spillages explosions and fires compound this threat Since 9 11 security threats based on violence terrorism insurgency and civil strife have attracted much governmental attention and a great deal of public resources As the scale frequency and intensity of disasters and crises have dramatically increased over the last decade the failures in responding to these crises have prompted a critical need to evaluate the way in which the public sector responds to disaster What have we learned What has changed in the management of disasters and crises What do we know about the causes patterns and consequences of these events This book looks at some of the approaches that can be taken to empirically examine disaster and crisis management practices It contributes to the literature on crisis and disaster management as well as social policy and planning Introducing approaches that are applicable to a variety of circumstances in the U S and in other countries it offers ways to think through policy interventions and governance mechanisms that may enhance societal resilience This book was originally published as a special issue of Public Management Review Disaster Relief in the Asia Pacific Minako Sakai, Edwin Jurriëns, Jian Zhang, Alec Thornton, 2014-01-03 A UN report recently found that the Asia Pacific is the world's most disaster prone region Indeed considering that the region accounts for more than half of the total number of disasters in the world building capacity and resilience to mitigate the devastating impact of disasters is a pressing task for local actors This book takes a regional multidisciplinary and multi actor approach to improve understandings of how various actors respond to natural and human induced disasters in the Asia Pacific region It examines the ideas and activities of four different categories of agents civil society military and state institutions local cultural knowledge and the media and economic initiatives and these themes are approached from various academic disciplines ranging from anthropology and cultural studies to economics human geography and political science The contributors draw their findings from a variety of countries in the region including China Fiji India Indonesia Japan Myanmar and Samoa and importantly focus on the interconnection between vulnerability and resilience In turn the book highlights how the nature and magnitude of disasters are influenced by social conditions and aims to contribute to policies that prioritize development opportunities to enhance resilience Further it explores the complicated and multifaceted role of agency in building resilience and presents a comparative framework for analysis and key findings from the Asia Pacific region The focus of this book on recent and ongoing disasters makes it a topical and timely contribution to the growing field of disaster management and as such it will appeal to students and scholars of environmental studies development studies and Asian politics American Book Publishing Record ,2006 Soziale Arbeit ,2011 Policy & Practice ,2005 Law Institute Journal ,2005
